

ACQUIT GOVERNOR OF INDIANA

ATLANTINS CHEER U. S. STAND TO OUTLAW WARS

Argentine Quits in Tariff Row.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 16.—That the United States never will be guilty of the act of aggression upon any of the Latin American republics was the impression of a momentous declaration of American policy made to the Pan-American conference today by Charles Evans Hughes, chairman of the United States delegation.

"I desire to show you," Mr. Hughes said, "the sincere cooperation of the United States, which is opposed to any act of aggression, which desires to see three eliminated from this hemisphere, which is seeking nothing but the good order, the independence, and the prosperity of all the American states."

The pronouncement which concluded a speech in which Mr. Hughes gave an unqualified support of a resolution placed before the committee on international public law by the Mexican delegation to outlaw aggressive war in the western hemisphere was received with enthusiastic applause by the Latin-Americans. The demonstration is being widely interpreted tonight as a Latin-American endorsement of the policy of the United States in dealing with the other American republics, particularly in the Caribbean.

To Restore Order.

It was noted that Mr. Hughes placed emphasis on the effort of the United States to bring about a "good order" in the hemisphere, the significance of which is that the United States has intervened in Nicaragua and other Caribbean countries solely for the restoration of good order.

A related circumstance was the declaration that the effort of Argentina, Salvador, and some other countries to secure the adoption of a rule of international law forbidding intervention in one nation in the affairs of another has failed out. The subcommittee to which this matter was referred met today and decided on a report, which it is understood, will not recommend that the conference on the intervention question. It is possible, however, that the results of the intervention policy of the United States will make a last stand in favor of the interventionist declaration when the subcommittee reports to the international law committee tomorrow.

Argentine Envoy Quits.

Dr. Honorio Pueyrredon, chief of the Argentine delegation to the Pan-American conference at Washington, has resigned both posts. The envoy's resignation was made in protest against the reorganization of the Pan-American union without the assent of the Argentine government. He had insisted on a clause declaring that no trade barriers, which would be an opening wedge for an assault on the United States' tariff walls, be put in force until the Argentine government had been consulted. The correspondence revealed that he submitted his resignation Tuesday night, after he had received instructions from Buenos Aires to sign the projected Pan-American union convention with reservations, even though it did not contain the anti-tariff clause he sought. The ambassador sent other cables to Buenos Aires today, insisting that the government accept his resignation.

Cables Foreign Minister.

Dr. Pueyrredon's cablegram to the Argentine minister of foreign affairs today was: "We are facing a question of public honor. The principles of the Pan-American union shall be based on the American union which so far as we are concerned are of the greatest importance to the republic and regard which your excellency is not to lose sight of. I have therefore resigned upon my resignation for the reason for which I presented it."

To meet the emergency produced by Dr. Pueyrredon's refusal to sign the convention, the committee proposed today that the convention be signed at a later date by the Argentine government, and that the Argentine minister of foreign affairs be authorized to sign the convention on behalf of the Argentine republic.

Hughes Backs Peace Aims.

Mr. Hughes was moved to make a pronouncement on American policy in the western hemisphere in the presence of the committee consideration of the plan for the amicable settlement of international disputes. Dr. Gonzalez of Mexico delegation, who was seated on page 10, said:

PRES. CERMAK, JUDGE THOMPSON TO LEAD SLATE

County Board Chief Runs for Senate.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Supreme Court Justice Floyd E. Thompson's campaign for the governorship got under way with a flying start yesterday when Anton J. Cermak agreed to become his running mate as a candidate for United States Senator. The Republicans meanwhile were undecided as to combined opposition to the renomination of Gov. Small.

The agreement of President Cermak of the county board to put aside his ambitions to be governor and to aspire instead to the senate, was hailed as an omen of victory by the Democrats. They expect their party ticket in the November election to be headed as follows:

For president—Alfred E. Smith of New York.

For United States senator—Anton J. Cermak of Chicago.

For governor—Floyd E. Thompson of Rock Island.

A wet ticket, a liberal ticket, a winning ticket, the county Democracy called it.

The Democrats felt that if Small isn't beaten in the April primary he will be in November, and that if Frank L. Smith isn't beaten in the Republican senatorial elimination contest Cermak will down him in November.

Pick Denen County Sate.

The followers of United States Senator Charles S. Denen yesterday selected men to oppose the Thompson-Crowe-Galpin Cook county Republican candidates as follows:

JUDGE JOHN A. SWANSON, for state's attorney, to oppose Robert E. Crowe.

FREDERICK J. LUETTICH, for circuit clerk, to oppose Thomas O. Wallace.

HERBERT V. JUUL, for superior clerk, to oppose Samuel E. Erickson.

HENRY C. W. LAUBENHEIMER, for sheriff, to oppose Charles W. Graydon.

EDWARD R. LITSINGER, for receiver, to oppose Bernard P. Barasew.

JOSEPH F. HAAS, for recorder, to oppose John Janowski.

ARTHUR W. SULLIVAN, for assessor, to oppose Eugene Nusser.

DR. ALEXANDER J. PROMINSKI, for coroner, to oppose Oscar Wolff.

ARTHUR F. ALBERT, HOWARD W. ELMORE, and EDWIN R. WRIGHT, for sanitary trustees, to oppose Oscar F. Nelson, Morris Eller and William Finucane.

W. S. FULLER, for sanitary trustee (vacancy), to oppose Edward F. Moore.

It was reported late last night the county board would endorse Louis L. Emmerson for governor.

City Court Choices.

The Denen candidates for municipal judgeships are:

William B. Gemmill, William H. A. Rush, Henry M. Porter, Alfred O. Erickson, James C. Leaton, Joseph J. Spatz, Leonard I. Wiseman, George J. Nagatune, Joseph F. Cervinka, Joseph A. Thiele, William E. Halstead, John R. Newcomer, and Donald H. McGillivray for the Bugee vacancy.

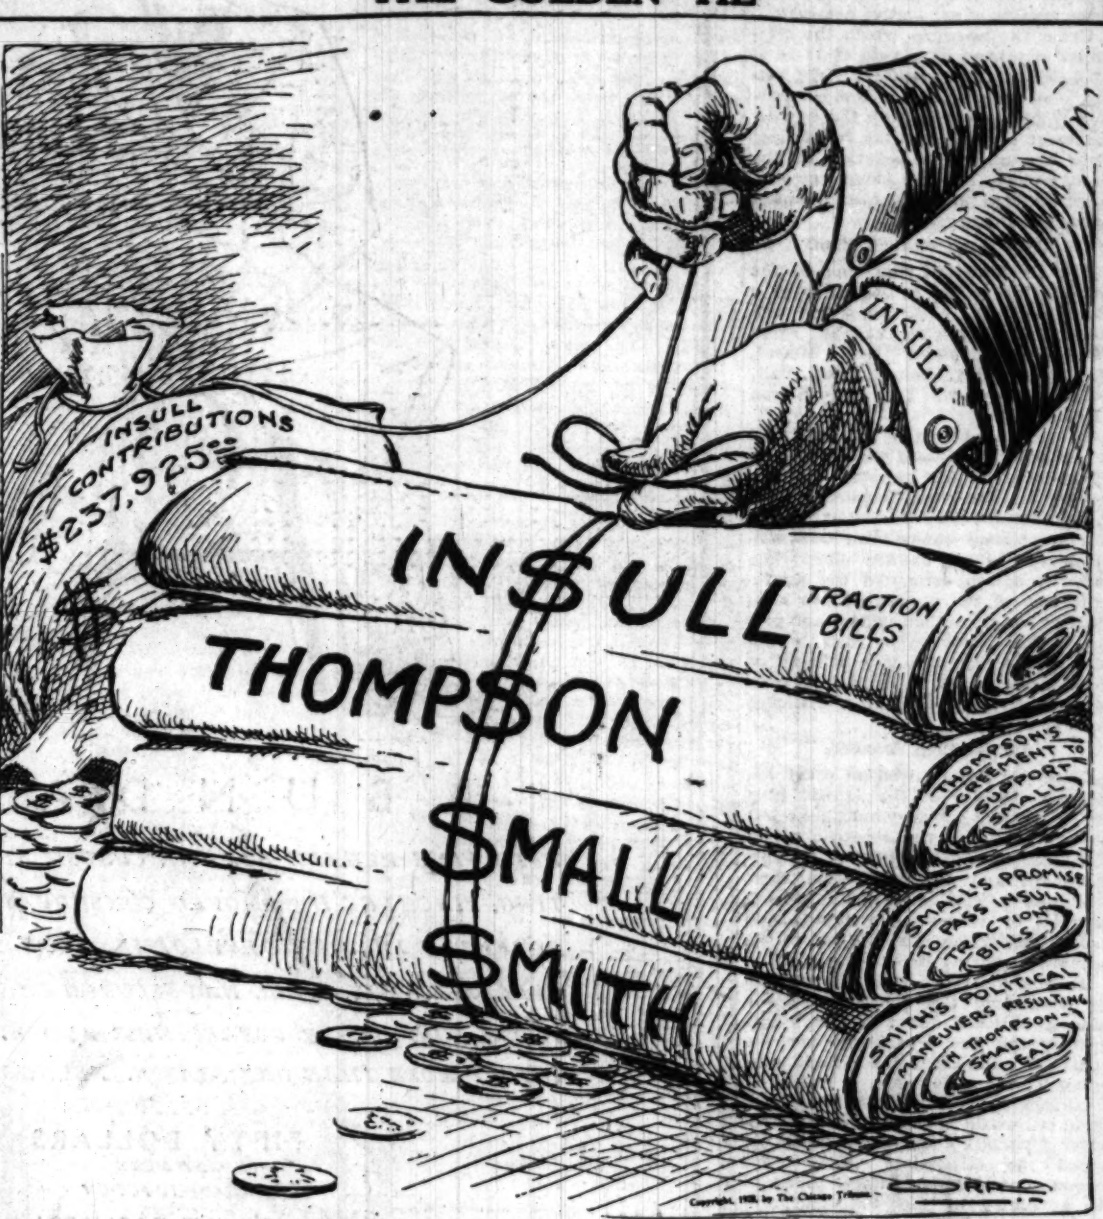

It was decided to await the outcome of a conference last night at Springfield between Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom and Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson, both of whom are at present candidates for governor, before doing anything on a state ticket. Senator Denen is expected to return to Chicago on Saturday, his political associates said, and they have until Monday to file any candidates they may desire to endorse.

The Denen candidates had not made a slate of ward committeemen candidates up to last night, nor had they selected the persons who will run for delegates to the Republican national convention, presumably as instructed for Frank O. Lowden for president. The change in the law yesterday—from precinct committeemen to ward committeemen—had been opposed by the Denen camp, but last night they were making ready for the contest under the changed rules.

Thompson Petitions Ready.

The Thompson-Crowe candidates were ready with their petitions and there were few changes. Judge John Barbato gave way as committeeman of the 43rd ward to Charles E. Peace, a Small leader. Harry Klatsko was preparing to file for committeeman of the 44th ward, but Mayor William Hale Thompson was named to make the race, as former Attorney General Edward J. Brundage had agreed not to oppose Thompson. Daniel A. Serrett, city sealer, was named for the 1st ward.

THE GOLDEN TIE

Judge Recalls Own Romance; Rules for Youth

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath, recalling his own elopement in 1888 at the age of 17, yesterday refused the plea of Mrs. Bertha Johnson, a widow, 811 Eastwood avenue, to separate her daughter, Elinore, 17, from Hector Scheffer, 17, who wed Elinore ten days ago.

Before the bench stood the blushing young couple, hand in hand, protesting their love for each other and the unhappiness that an annulment of their marriage would cause. Before the judge's eyes rose a picture of himself forty years ago stealing to Kenosha, Wis., for a secret wedding to the sweetheart who still is his wife.

Judge Remembers More.

Mrs. Johnson pleaded for an injunction to prevent her daughter from living with her husband. Judge Sabath recalled how it took him five days to get up enough nerve to tell his bride's parents of their marriage.

"She is too young to know her own mind," Mrs. Johnson told the judge. "She is my only child."

"But they love each other," the jurist argued.

Appearing with Scheffer, who is employed by the Commonwealth Edison company and has a home for his bride at 1585 Belmont avenue, was his cousin, Attorney Hector Broutlet.

Refuses the Injunction.

"I won't grant the injunction," said Judge Sabath, ending the hearing. "But I'll give a prompt hearing to-morrow afternoon to the annulment bill."

"O, judge!" Mrs. Johnson interrupted. "where'll my daughter stay to-night?"

"I'll act as chaperon for them to-night," Attorney Broutlet volunteered. "They can stay at my house."

BODY WASHED UP ON BEACH MAY BE DOLE FLYER'S

Ventura, Cal., Feb. 16.—(AP)—The body of a man believed to be one of the missing trans-Pacific Dole flyers was washed ashore near here today. The only identification possible was bits of clothing, identified as parts of a naval uniform, clinging to the body.

The only naval aviator unaccounted for in the Dole flight was Lieut. Vilas B. Knoppe of the Ill. fated Miss Doran, which carried John A. Pedlar as pilot and Miss Mildred Doran as a passenger. Pedlar and Miss Doran were from Flint, Mich.

In the Dole flight, five planes started from San Francisco for Honolulu, where the first to arrive was at Saturday night. Stations WGN, WENR, and WFL have complied with the union's demand, and six others do not use remote control, according to Petrillo.

Broadcasters Fail to Unite.

The announcement followed closely on the adjournment of a meeting of Chicago broadcasters at which they decided to handle individually their disputes over the remote control matter with the musicians' union. The broadcasters failed to agree on a unified program for resisting the union's demands.

These demands were sent to all stations five weeks ago. Large stations were informed they were to hire ten musicians if they continued the use of remote control. Five players were allotted to the smaller stations. It is estimated that these demands would add about $50,000 a year to the pay rolls of the larger stations and $25,000 to the budgets of the smaller ones.

Remote Control Denied.

Petrillo said he wished to emphasize that only the radio stations using remote control are affected in the present negotiations. He said there are some large stations in Chicago that use remote control programs almost exclusively, while others have to stand the expense of hiring musicians along with the use of remote control.

The union leader defined remote control as placing a microphone in an orchestra pit of any theater, relaying the music to the station and then broadcasting it.

He announced he has been pledged the support of the American Federation of Musicians in the controversy.

Union Orders Remote Radio Music Strike

James Petrillo, head of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, announced last night that he has ordered union musicians to cease playing on Sunday in every theater, café, and hotel where the musical programs are broadcast via remote control by radio stations which have not complied with the union's demands.

It is estimated that the tieup order will affect nine large and ten small stations in Chicago unless they notify Petrillo of a change in front by Saturday night. Stations WGN, WENR, and WFL have complied with the union's demand, and six others do not use remote control, according to Petrillo.

The announcement followed closely on the adjournment of a meeting of Chicago broadcasters at which they decided to handle individually their disputes over the remote control matter with the musicians' union. The broadcasters failed to agree on a unified program for resisting the union's demands.

GOLDBERG DIES IN HOSPITAL OF MYSTERY WOUND

Isadore "Nigger" Goldberg, well known gangster and reputed lieutenant of Jack Zuta of the Berke-Skidmore-Zuta vice and gambling syndicate, died early this morning at the Bridewell hospital from wounds received when he was mysteriously shot on Feb. 14 as he walked along Harrison street near Racine avenue. Goldberg told police he was shot by two men who were strangers when they asked him for a match and he told them he had none. Chief of Detectives Michael Grady, however, said he learned that Goldberg was shot from an automobile that sped away. The shooting was attributed to gang rivalry.

Janitors' Union Enjoined from Picketing at Hotel

Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan yesterday issued an injunction to restrain the Chicago Hotel Janitors' union from picketing the Shorecrest hotel, 430 Wrightwood avenue. The bill on which the writ was granted alleged that the union had nailed shut the building's iceboxes and that the tenants were afraid of bombing.

Mother Asks Court to Jail Son She Says Is Worthless

Mrs. Augusta Gamble, 1300 Newport avenue, appeared in the Town Hall court yesterday and asked Judge Helander to send her son, John Gamble, 32 years old, to jail. "He is a worthless drunkard," she declared. "He neglected his wife and children for five years and last week, when his wife died, he refused to go to her funeral." Judge Helander fined Gamble $25 and costs.

Jurors in Hill Case Now 11-1 for Conviction

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 16.—(Special).—While Harry Hill, 22 year old youth charged with the murder of his mother, paced his cell and physicians watched him closely, fearing a breakdown, the jury deliberating his fate showed no signs of breaking the deadlock which had held them for 57 hours at nine o'clock tonight.

At that hour, weary and exhausted, the jury asked Judge Davis to allow them to go to bed. The judge assented and all the jurors were in their beds at 9:30 o'clock.

There is now only one juror holding out for an acquittal against eleven who wish to find the boy guilty of matricide. It was learned from a reliable source. The single juror sits sullenly in his chair, it is reported, refusing to listen to the pleadings of the others.

The jurors had remained eight to four for a conviction until yesterday. The switch of three of the minority was due, according to rumors, to information reaching the jury room of the death of Lee O'Neill Browne, one of the defense lawyers.

Hill Near Collapse.

Elaborate precautions had been taken to keep this news from the jurors, but they were said to have heard of the death late last night.

The strain of waiting for the verdict has proved almost too much for young Hill, his guards reported. He has not slept more than a few hours since the case was given to the jury last Tuesday afternoon. His collapse is imminent, the doctors said.

A letter threatening violence to the boy was sent to the jail yesterday, and as a result he is barred from seeing any one, even his father, Dr. H. C. Hill, wealthy Streator, Ill., physician.

Refuses to Discharge Jurors.

The jury again sent word this morning to Judge Joe A. Davies that they could not agree and asked to be discharged. The judge refused to talk to them and they were ordered to continue their debate. Judge Davies has not indicated how long he will keep the jury out if they remain in disagreement. He has a precedent of 72 hours in this county for holding a jury, but he indicated that he will discharge the jury tomorrow unless the solitary holdout is won over.

Hill was charged with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Eliza A. Hill, at their home last August.

DENIES CALLING COP A BUM, BUT THINKS HE IS ONE

Judge John P. McGorty of the Criminal court will decide tomorrow whether Francis Joseph Austin Qualey was in contempt of court when he used his fists on the face of Deputy Sheriff Joseph Spinella at Dearborn street and Wacker drive yesterday.

Spinella, Judge McGorty's bailiff, was guarding a murder jury. As they were crossing at Qualey's corner the bailiff blew his whistle. The deputy and the jurors had to scatter to avoid being struck by automobiles. The bailiff stopped and informed the traffic officers that it was wrong to scatter juries that way. The answer was a swing to the chin.

"Certainly I hit him," said Qualey. "He called me a big bum."

"I didn't call him a big bum," retorted Spinella. "But I think he is."

POLICEMAN SHOT TRYING TO SEIZE THREE IN AUTO

Policeman William Smith of the Albany Park station was wounded in the left leg last night when he and two other policemen engaged in a pistol battle with three robbery suspects in front of 4137 Kimball avenue. More than thirty shots were fired by the six combatants.

With Policeman Joseph Stryzinski and Joseph Dornbrack, Smith attempted to question the three men when the automobile in which they were riding was halted at the curb. He leaped on the running board and was shot at close range. The automobile collided with another a short distance away and was wrecked. The men fled on foot. Stryzinski and Dornbrack arrested James Johns, 4137 Kimball avenue, in his home, asserting that he was one of those in the battle.

Early this morning Joseph Toman, said to be a friend of Johns, was arrested in a flat on Linder avenue by squads led by Capt. Joseph Goldberg, Lieut. John L. Sullivan, and Chief of Detectives Michael Grady. Toman had a bullet wound in the chest which police declared he had received in the battle with the police.

COURT ORDERS JACKSON AND 2 OTHERS FREED

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 16.—(Special).—Gov. Ed Jackson was found not guilty tonight of the charge of having conspired to bribe former Gov. Warren T. McCray in 1923 on a verdict instructed by Judge Charles M. McCabe.

Judge McCabe told the jury that the sole reason for taking the case away from them at this time, on a defense motion, was because the state had failed to prove that the bribery conspiracy had been concealed, in the legal meaning of that term.

Failing to prove concealment, there is no remedy in law even though the conspiracy was a fact, as the statute of limitations ran against any such charge two years ago.

Verdict Ends Old Charges.

This frees the governor and the others indicted with him, George V. Coffin, Marion county Republican boss, and Robert L. Marsh, the governor's former law partner and former klan attorney, from any further trouble in the direction of these old charges.

It leaves the people of Indiana free to wonder about the actual facts, as politics and public sentiment know no statute of limitations. It ends effectively all chances of any prosecution of the old scandal of which Dr. C. C. Stephenson has claimed knowledge.

Judge McCabe, a Democrat from Crawfordville, was brought here as special judge in this case. He took nearly all day to consider the motion for a directed verdict presented at the close of the state's case this morning.

Commends Former Governor.

In his decision Judge McCabe took occasion to declare that the Ku Klux Klan had been the shame of Indiana and to speak of the uprightness and moral soundness of former Gov. McCray in turning down what must have been a great temptation to him, if the evidence is to be believed.

The argument on concealment centered around the visit of Mr. Jackson, then secretary of state, on Dec. 3, 1923, with his alleged offer of $25,000 cash and immunity from prosecution or jury verdict if Gov. McCray would name the county prosecutor wanted by Jackson and his alleged co-conspirators. In this conversation the power of a "certain organization" (the klan) was declared to have been mentioned as being the real law, courts and juries in Indiana.

"Indictment of Whole State."

Judge McCabe spoke with real feeling on this subject. The reported statement to the then governor, he said, was "an indictment of the whole state of Indiana." He could not understand how any reasonable man, much less an intelligent governor, could credit it, although he said he was "fully aware of the shame and disgrace in which Indiana has been cast by that organization."

"I have no political ambitions," the judge continued. "No more regrettable incident in the history of Indiana than the organization and manipulation of politics by the Ku Klux Klan can be imagined, although there are many good men in it."

"It has resulted in dishonor to the great state of Indiana."

After going over all the evidence carefully, the judge found only a scintilla of evidence that there had been any affirmative act of concealment of the felony charged. A scintilla of evidence is not enough, he said, and the prosecutor agreed with him.

Sustains Defense Motion.

"I don't believe any good would come of letting this case go to the jury," the court said. "My judgment is that the motion to direct a verdict on the ground that there is no evidence of the alleged acts of concealment alleged in the indictment, is sustained."

Judge McCabe gave his decision orally, in a "thinking aloud" manner, as he called it. The courtroom was crowded, even to the galleries, and Gov. Jackson sat waiting for hours while the motion was under advisement. The decision had been indicated earlier in the day and all the governor's friends crowded around him, congratulating him. It was said for him that he opposed this motion, wishing to put in his defense, take the stand and get a real jury verdict, but his counsel overruled him in consideration of the other defendants.

In making his decision the court gave every possible leaning to the state, and told the prosecutors they had not failed in their duty in any way. He analyzed the evidence, bit by Mr. On the hypothesis that it was true, he found the essential element of the indictment, concealment by fraud, trickery, or threat, had not been shown.

Prosecutor W. H. Remy took the witness stand in a last effort to save the case and testified he never knew of the charges until it was too late to bring action within the statutory time limit.

More silence on the part of McCray and the others involved was not sufficient to show legal concealment, the court held. In his analysis, his mind came to the position of McCray, the indicted governor, on that December day, more than four years after the testimony of Stephenson, then the klan leader.

Orders Jury to Acquit.

"It is difficult to my mind to presume," he continued, "that, having withstood that great temptation, backed by the power of a great organization, that he could be influenced at all by fear not to tell."

The attorneys argued for hours, but there is nothing more to the situation than is explained herein. The court instructed the jury to come in at 5 o'clock, after having taken an hour in giving his decision and told them what he had done. There was no protest from the jury box. The jurors had only heard one side of the case. The foreman signed the verdict and all the jurors looked at it in the box. There was no deliberation over it. The state wanted it stated in the verdict that the sole reason for the acquittal was the lack of concealment proof, but this was not done. History records merely that Gov. Jackson was found not guilty. The governor was immediately surrounded by admiring friends, but others left the court saying:

"I don't know what to think now."

The Great Dream Is Ended.

Gov. Jackson, it was agreed in political circles, is about through with politics. His term expires this year and he will not run for the re-election. The Republican party in the presidential campaign, already started in the state, will have the Democratic opposition that will make use of this situation.

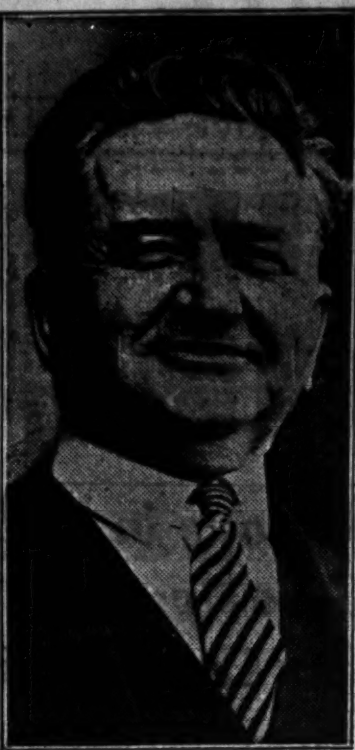

The curtain is now drawn on the 1924 scandal drama. Perhaps they will be more careful in 1925. Jackson and Stephenson once dreamed a great dream. Jackson was to be vice presidential candidate about this time and "Steve" was to be Republican national chairman. The klan, which made Jackson governor, was to sweep him and "Steve" on to national honors. Now "Steve" is in prison to stay, unless the State Supreme court grants him a new trial, and Jackson is where he is. The old friends are now enemies. The klan is broken, new day and new figures are appearing in the Indiana political horizon.

DEMANDS RESIGNATION

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—The South Bend Tribune, in an extra this afternoon announcing the acquittal of Gov. Ed Jackson of charges of conspiracy to commit a felony, published an editorial calling for the resignation of the state executive. The editorial follows:

"Ed Jackson, governor of Indiana, ought to resign and resign immediately. Honored with the high place of chief executive of this great state by the votes of the people, the votes of many who probably were not fully informed, he no longer should continue to serve in that elevated and responsible position. Indicted on a suspicion of interest in the reported attempt to bribe a previous governor of Indiana, he is in such a position, whether or not guilty, that he cannot hope to continue in the complete confidence of all the people of the state.

The evidence adduced in his trial, which this afternoon came to an abrupt end because of a legal technicality, is such that Jackson's course clearly is to immediately step out of the governor's office.

"Jackson may be as innocent as a new born baby, but it might be difficult to so convince all the people of Indiana, who cannot be prevented from suspecting and believing as they choose; particularly so after having read the apparently straightforward statements of some of the witnesses.

"With the public's mind, or part of it, in such a state, what can Jackson hope for in respect to candid public confidence if he continues in the executive office?

"Screened by the statute of limitations, officially recognized by the judge trying the case, who seems to have felt it his duty to so state and to close the trial, Jackson is left in a situation which never may be solved to public satisfaction.

"Resignation, and at once, from the governorship would be the right course under those circumstances and it should become a fact."

APPROVES 473 MILLIONS FLOOD CONTROL BILL

House Committee Puts All Cost on U. S.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—Virtually every major proposal urged by the administration in the so-called Jadwin plan for Mississippi flood control was discarded by the house flood control committee in framing the four hundred seventy-three million dollar program it adopted and recommended to the house today after three months of exhaustive hearings.

Under the measure, which the committee approved by a vote of 11 to 6, with one member present but not voting, and three absent, a new commission would supersede both the war department and the existing Mississippi river commission in solution of the flood problem and the federal government would assume the entire financial burden of the project.

These Vote Against Plan.

The six members who opposed the program sponsored by Representative Reid (Rep., Ill.), chairman of the committee, were Representatives Freer (Rep., Wis.), Selvig (Rep., Minn.), Kopp (Rep., Ia.), Cochran (Rep., Pa.), Stalker (Rep., N. Y.), and Nelson (Dem., Mo.).

In its present form the Reid bill would bind the federal government to spend two hundred fourteen million dollars more in the construction of a comprehensive flood control system in the Mississippi valley than was contemplated in the Jadwin plan. The latter program estimated the aggregate cost of the project at two hundred ninety-six million dollars and proposed that construction costs, exclusive of the cost of land purchased or condemned, would be divided between the affected states and the government on a 25-75 basis.

Jadwin Plan Assailed.

This proposal as well as other important features of the Jadwin plan including that which would have left jurisdiction over the construction of flood control works with the war department and the Mississippi river commission were subjected to severe attacks by scores of witnesses and delegations which appeared before the committee during its hearing.

It was contended that the problem of controlling the Mississippi floods was a national one and one which neither the war department nor the existing commission had dealt adequately with in the past.

As reported today to the house, the Reid bill would abolish the Mississippi river commission and substitute in its stead the Mississippi valley flood commission, a seven member group to be appointed by the President and authorized to "proceed at once, without local contribution, to cause to be established, constructed, and completed a comprehensive system of flood control works to control the largest floods of the Mississippi river now recorded or which may be reasonably anticipated."

Four Civilian Engineers.

Four of the seven members of the new commission under the bill would be outstanding civilian engineers.

The bill would permit the proposed commission "wide discretion in its choice of levees, controlled and regulated spillways, flood ways, storage basins, and reservoirs," to keep the flood crests of the Mississippi below 54 feet at Cairo, Ill.; 53 feet at Arkansas City, Ark., and 15 feet at New Orleans. The bill also would empower the commission to condemn, if unable to purchase, property wherever needed for the location of flood control.

The bill would authorize the President, through the new commission, or if he chooses, the chief of army engineers, to undertake a comprehensive investigation into the possibility of controlling floods in the lower Mississippi valley by reservoirs, and recommends that "the helpful aid of state engineers, university, and technical men and state officials" in the study be invited.

The investigation should disclose, according to the bill, the effects and benefits of a reservoir system upon navigation, agriculture, and power development, and authorize the commission to proceed with reservoir construction if the President is satisfied by the results of the investigation "that such construction will have a substantial and beneficial influence in the control of floods."

"On completion of any reservoir or reservoirs, so constructed," the bill continues, "the secretary of the interior shall have authority to dispose of any impounded waters, under rules made by him and approved by the President, and may further enter into negotiations for the purpose of disposal of reservoirs themselves, always retaining, however, at all times, authority to direct the impounding and the emptying of the waters in such reservoirs. Tentative agreements for the sale of the reservoirs must be made to congress and it shall require congressional sanction to any final sale."

In order to devise means of controlling the flood waters of tributaries to the Mississippi river the bill would authorize a survey of all the watershed in the Mississippi basin "producing floods destructive to life and property."

The result of such a survey, the bill contemplates, would be reports showing "the extent and character of the area to be affected by the proposed improvement."

THOMPSON PART OF METER

Small Home Longer R

Mayor Thompson's war department over water meters in Chicago to a peaceful city. Secretary of War proposed amendments universal metering of the Washington Republic with conflicting interests of the mayor's indication of his state metering of small homes of the ordinance is only a temporary measure as a postponement, perhaps, of such metering.

Marks Gain he. The amendment put administration on record providing for a total of 80 per cent water service by the permit allowing the 100 cubic feet of water from Lake Michigan in annual. Some of the water is metered. The secretary of war was to install the meters as would be affected last.

War department officials have said it is no longer larger or smaller as long as the permit is obeyed.

Secretary Davis, in amendment, said: "With the understate plans to install meters to achieve the average of the permit and faithfully carry out the proposed amended adoption will be accepted department with the permit once with the permit."

Question Over 90 An apparently paradox thus created. Mayor promised that small would not be metered to meter 90 per cent water service.

The explanation, it is two different interpretations. "90 per cent" means which the Thompsonite department still are all Attorney Harry O. says Mayor's meter agent a 1927, that 81 per cent water service was metered of 1924. On Sept. 2, Mayor said that only 25 per cent had been.

According to Mr. Bolt cent excludes 15 per cent; furnished free and similar services. O. Maj. Jadwin holds the means 90 per cent to the stations.

THOMPSON GAINS PART OF WATER METER DISPUTE

Small Home Owners Get Longer Respite.

Mayor Thompson's dispute with the water department over the installation of water meters in Chicago apparently came to a peaceful conclusion yesterday. Secretary of War Davis approved a proposed amendment to Chicago's universal metering ordinance.

The Washington report was received locally with conflicting views. Adherents of the mayor proclaimed it as a vindication of his stand against the metering of small homes, while advocates of the ordinance looked upon it as only a temporary victory, regarding it as a postponement, for several years, of such metering.

Marks Gain in Time. The amendment puts the Thompson administration on record as adopting a program providing for the metering of a total of 30 per cent of the Chicago water service by 1935 at the rate of 10 per cent a year as provided in the permit allowing the withdrawal of 1,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan into the drainage canal. Some of the water service already is metered. The word from the secretary of war would allow the city to install the meters so the small owners would be affected last.

War department officials repeatedly have said it is no concern of theirs whether large or small meters go in just as long as the permit terms are obeyed.

Secretary Davis, in approving the amendment, said: "With the understanding that the city plans to install meters sufficient to achieve the average rate called for by the permit and will thereafter faithfully carry out the provisions of the proposed amended ordinance, its adoption will be accepted by the war department as a substantial compliance with the permit requirements."

Question Over 90 Per Cent. An apparently paradoxical situation thus created. Mayor Thompson has promised that small home owners would not be metered. Yet he agrees to meter 90 per cent of the city's water service.

The explanation, it seems, hinges on two different interpretations of what "90 per cent" means, a point on which the Thompsonites and the war department still are sharply at odds. Attorney Harry O. Blossat, the mayor's meter agent, said on Sept. 1, 1927, that 51 per cent of the city's water service was metered at the end of 1926. On Sept. 8, Maj. Gen. Edwin J. Davis said that up to that time only 25 per cent had been metered.

According to Mr. Blossat, the 90 per cent excludes 25 per cent which he says leaks out underground, and 15 per cent furnished free for fire, police and similar services. On the contrary, Maj. J. Davis holds that 90 per cent means 90 per cent to water pumped at the stations.

JACK HORNER'S DESCENDANT

GLASTONBURY, England, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The new Earl of Oxford and Asquith, aged 11, is a descendant on his mother's side of Little Jack Horner who sat in a corner eating pie. The corner is Mells Manor, which the monks of Glastonbury were forced to abandon during the reformation.

The accepted explanation of the nursery rhyme is that Jack Horner was steward of the abbot of Glastonbury and that he, by subterfuge, gained possession of the deeds of Mells Manor. The deeds were sent to Henry VIII, concealed for safety in a pie. Jack Horner was the bearer and en route he lifted the crust and extracted this "plum."

Mells Manor is still owned by Horner's direct descendants. Katherine Frances Horner, daughter of Sir John Horner, was married in 1867 to Raymond Asquith, eldest son of the Earl of Oxford and Asquith, who died on Wednesday. Raymond Asquith was killed in action during the war.

Pay Tribute to Asquith. (Chicago Tribune Press Service.) LONDON, Feb. 16.—The expressed desire of the earl of Oxford and Asquith was for a "quiet and simple funeral" and the veteran liberal statesman, better known as Herbert H. Asquith, will be buried in the churchyard of All Saints church, Sutton Courtenay, Berkshire, at noon on Monday. The pallbearers will be chosen from among the late statesman's intimate friends. Only relatives and friends will be invited to the funeral.

A memorial service will be held at Westminster Abbey Tuesday noon. Representatives of the king and the diplomatic corps, the bench, the bar, and all the political parties will attend. Both houses of parliament were adjourned today out of respect for the memory of the great liberal leader, after tributes had been paid to him. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin spoke for the government. Ramsay MacDonald for labor, and David Lloyd George for the liberal party. Members of the Asquith family, including the countess of Oxford, were present.

65 WILL MARRY 18 WHO NURSED HIS LATE WIFE

Eighteen year old Herta Tatz, 4734 North Lawndale avenue, is a reasonable girl for one of her age, not a bit like a flapper, Philip Hanus, 65, of 1766 Leland avenue decided, therefore, he asked her to be his bride. Saturday morning they will be wed at St. Michael church, Claremont avenue and Annette street, and will leave on a honeymoon in Germany.

Hanus is sure their marriage will be a happy one, for didn't Herta console and comfort him in his grief over the death of his first wife? Herta, who worked as a housemaid in the neighborhood, often helped in the care of the young man, who was ill for more than a year. It was in the months following his wife's death last Thanksgiving day, that Hanus realized he could not live without Herta. And Herta, unconcerned by the difference in their ages, declares she loves him.

LOWEST BIDDER LOSES ROBEY ST. VIADUCT JOB

Grt. Lakes Dredge Wins; $226,295 Higher.

The Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company has been awarded a contract for completion of the Robey street viaduct. Its bid on the project was $1,187,799.50. That of the Great Lakes Construction company was $963,503.90 or lower by $226,295.60. Although the names are similar, the two concerns have no connection.

Announcement of the award of the contract by the board of local improvements was made yesterday by President Michael J. Faherty.

The Robey street viaduct, extending over the International Harvester Corporation Deering works at the north branch of the river, is the last link of an improvement that will open Robey street from Fullerton to Diversey avenues. It is being paid for out of a $3,200,000 bond issue voted in 1922. The south half of the structure, costing $396,843, being built by the Kettler-Elliott company, was started in February, 1927, and soon will be completed.

Here Are Prices Offered. Bids for the north part, for which the contract has been given the Great Lakes D. & D. company, were: Great Lakes Dredge and Dock, $1,187,799.50; M. E. White Construction co., $1,200,000.00; Midwest Construction co., $1,201,000.00; Kettler-Elliott company, $1,206,000.00.

Disclosure that the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company received the award added new stimulus to a discussion of the phenomenal increase in the value of the concern's stock during the last year. That stock mounted from a low of $140 last March to more than $300 in the last few days.

Two reasons for rejection of the Great Lakes Construction bid were given by Mr. Faherty: First, that the required 10 per cent certified check accompanying the bid was for a flat $96,000 instead of $96,250.39, the full 10 per cent; and, second, that the concern, he was informed, had "never built a bridge or viaduct in its life."

"We don't know why our bid was rejected," said an official of the company.

"We submitted it in good faith. The check was made out for $96,000 because the specifications were divided into several parts and a flat approximate sum was written in. I fail to see how $350 could have been so vital on a million dollar contract."

That official said he had received no notice of the board's action, but that the check had been returned.

Has Big Building Job. The Great Lakes Construction company is building the new county hospital, the county jail and criminal courts building, and the police and municipal courts building.

In its annual report, made public a few days ago, the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company told of an exceptionally prosperous period in 1927 as a result of profitable contracts in connection with Chicago's civic improvement program. The report shows the profits last year were $2,585,670, more than double those of 1926. This is equivalent to $27.46 earned a share on the $5,001,500 capital stock.

In competition for the contract for straightening the Chicago river, the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company was underbid $391,051 by the Construction Materials company. The contract for that job has not been let.

BREAKS WIFE'S SKULL IN FIGHT OVER DAUGHTER

James Chanos, 30, formerly a professional wrestler, but now a piano mover, last night seriously injured his estranged wife, Florence, by hitting her over the head with his revolver when they quarreled over the custody of their daughter, Florence, 3.

The couple had been separated eight months, but last night Chanos called for his wife at a department store on West 79th street, where she works, and offered to accompany her to her home at 8358 South Wabash avenue.

On the way they quarreled over the custody of a child. Chanos also accused her of associating with other men, and when she denied this he pulled the revolver and beat her over the head, fracturing her skull. He then fled.

She staggered to the home of Emmett Byrne at 8043 South Michigan avenue, nearby, and collapsed.

BRITISH EDITOR ASSAILS CHICAGO AS "HICK" TOWN

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Predicting that few members of the house of commons could pass an elementary examination in United States history, Wickham Stead, British publicist and former editor of the London Times, who just has returned from America, told the American Chamber of Commerce today it is equally likely that "Big Bill" Thompson, mayor of Chicago, would not be able to rate more than 5 or 6 per cent on a paper setting forth the exact position between the years 1775 and 1825, affecting Great Britain and the United States.

"In such conditions of ignorance, how are two nations to understand each other?" asked Mr. Stead. "The only way is to begin from the fundamental proposition that as regards this country, the United States is a foreign community worthy of patient, respectful study."

"I said to Mayor Thompson, 'It is a great grief to me to find Chicago, which I had expected to see a go-ahead, up-to-date, forward, driving city, such a miserable, stick-in-the-mud, backward town. Here you are with your noses stuck in the end of the eighteenth century, smelling about a miserable old quarrel between an old German king on one hand and George Washington on the other, and not thinking for a moment that you are 150 years behind the times!'"

CANADA CANCER WORKERS CLAIM IMPORTANT FIND

Establish Presence of Auxiliary Nerve.

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 16.—(AP)—An announcement was made at McGill university today of what was termed an important forward step in the knowledge of cancer.

It was said that research at the McGill Pathological Institute and the Royal Victoria hospital had established the presence of auxiliary nerves in cancers and malignant tumors.

"This throws a new light on the problems of the nature and growth of cancer," the statement said. "For one thing, it establishes that the cancer is not an independent and self-contained growth of cells, as has so far been assumed, and it points the way to a possible connection of the growth with the nervous system."

Denied by High Authorities.
The statement from the pathological institute said that the presence of these nerves had not been recognized previously, and even had been denied by high authorities on cancer.

Details of the research are contained in an article in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association journal by Dr. Horst Oertel, Strathcona professor of pathology and director of the McGill Pathological Institute.

FAVORS KNIFE OVER X-RAY.
Surgery, not X-ray, should be the first resort in the treating of cancer, Dr. W. A. Newman Dorland said last night at the Auditorium hotel to members of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

Dr. Dorland declared a thorough health examination every six months is the most certain method of avoiding cancer. In the incipient stages, he declared, surgery will remove the cancer and a cure may be effected. Beyond that point it is nearly always incurable.

"Only three diseases—heart disease, pneumonia, and apoplexy—exceed the toll taken by cancer annually," he stated. "Cancer is a degenerative disease, occurring practically always in middle age or thereafter. One man in twelve and one woman in eight develops some type of cancer after 45 years of age."

Albert Fuchs, retired Chicago real estate dealer who announced early in the week that his entire fortune would eventually be devoted to an endowment for research to combat cancer, is laying plans at his present home in California for the establishment of the first clinic, which will be in Chicago.

KILLED BY AUTO AS HE TRIES TO DODGE TRAFFIC

An unidentified man about 45 years old was killed by an automobile last night as he was trying to dodge through the traffic at Halsted street and Chicago avenue. The driver, Alex Zasadinski, 30 years old, 1301 West North avenue, took the victim to Iroquois Memorial hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

An unidentified woman about 60 years old, believed to have been struck by an automobile while attempting to cross Irving Park boulevard at Campbell avenue, died at Montross Avenue hospital. A taxi cab driver found her unconscious in the street and took her to the hospital.

Harry McKenzie, 35 years old, 2045 West Congress street, died of injuries received six months ago when he was jolted from a truck. The three deaths increased the motor toll of Cook county to 123 since Jan. 1.

Policeman Thomas H. McCann, 2815 East 92d street, suffered internal injuries and his partner, Leo O'Brien, 7337 South Michigan avenue, was cut and bruised when a street car rammed the rear of their motorcycle at Ewing avenue and 111th street.

John B. Faulkner, 60 years old, publisher of the Michigan City Dispatch, died yesterday of injuries received in an automobile accident in Hammond, Ind., on Feb. 7.

LATINS CHEER U. S. STAND TO OUTLAW WARS

mitted a resolution declaring that "There is no international controversy, however serious, which cannot be solved peacefully. If the parties really desire a peaceful solution, that war of aggression constitutes an international crime against humanity, that all aggression shall be considered illegal, and accordingly prohibited, and that all nations will employ pacific means for the solution of conflicts which arise among them."

After considerable debate on the entire subject, Mr. Hughes arose.

"Permit me," he said, "to take this opportunity of expressing complete accord with the proposal of Dr. Gonzalez Roa of Mexico, with regard to the solution which might be properly adopted by this conference."

"It is my happy privilege to say for the United States of America that we would join most heartily in a declaration that there shall be no war of aggression in America. I am in entire accord with the proposal that we should show that this hemisphere is dedicated to the interests of peace and that we should endeavor to find pacific solutions for all the controversies that may arise."

"Without suggesting any superiority for ourselves, we have very happy traditions in this hemisphere. Most of the controversies that have vexed us have already been settled very few remain. They can be adjusted peacefully. If we have this high aim of securing pacific adjustment of our difficulties we shall not fail to attain it, and I am happy to join in that effort, to which, not simply speaking from the position as chairman of the American delegation, important as that is, but speaking out of my own heart, I would wish to give all the strength and energy that I possess."

With the details of the project for the pacific settlement of international disputes, however, Mr. Hughes was not in accord. He found much that was impractical in the procedure for compulsory arbitration proposed to the conference. After providing for compulsory arbitration of all disputes, he pointed out, it noted exceptions relating to questions involving constitutional provisions and the sovereignty and independence of nations, and these exceptions he found vague and uncertain.

"What are constitutional questions?" Mr. Hughes asked. "Our general chief justice of the Supreme court of the United States once said that a constitutional lawyer was one who had given up the practice of law and gone into politics." Mr. Hughes laughed until his teeth showed through his gray whiskers, and the Latins laughed, too, as soon as they got the point from the translator.

Then the chairman of the United States delegation went on to counsel against any attempt to adopt so comprehensive a plan of conciliation in the short time remaining to this conference. He warned against the pitfalls of hasty action. It would be better, he thought, to adopt a claims convention as a starter and provisions for commissions of investigation, such as the international joint commission of Canada and the United States.

Rules to Govern Union.
HAVANA, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The modus vivendi adopted today for government of the Pan-American union until the governments shall ratify the new convention provides for continuance of the resolutions in effect with a few modifications.

The conference is scheduled to close on Monday.

MISSING INDIANA DEPUTIES FOUND SLAIN ON FARM

Disappeared on Way to Prison with Youths.

Covington, Ind., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—The bodies of John P. Grove and Wallace McClure, deputy sheriffs of Wayne county, who had been missing since the morning of Feb. 7, when they left Lafayette with Samuel Hunter and John Burns, youthful convicts, were found today in a thick woods south of state road 34, near the village of Foster, three miles west of here.

The youths were being taken on the twenty-two mile trip to the Indiana penitentiary at Joliet to serve sentences of five to twenty-one years for burglary and had been placed in the back seat of a curtained touring car with only a single handout looking through the windows. The deputies were found in front of the car, which was being made for the youths, who were being taken to West Lafayette.

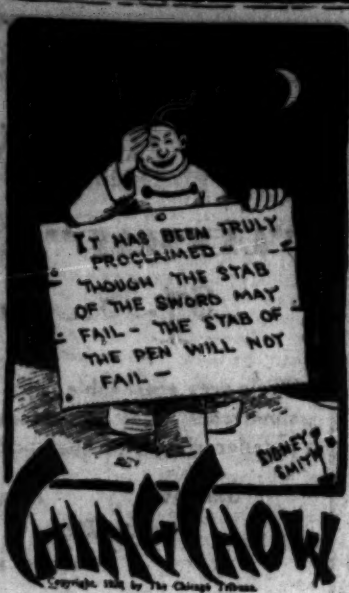

Covered With Auto Robe.
The bodies were accidentally found by Charles Abbill and R. V. Cook, both of Danville, Ill., and Fred Oakwood of Oakwood, Ill., on the farm owned by Abbill. The bodies were fifty feet from the entrance gate to the farm. One of the bodies was covered over with a heavy lap robe and the other was partly hidden from view by brush which had been heaped on it. A deep wound on the back of McClure's head indicated death was caused by a blow struck from a heavy blunt instrument. Grove's death resulted from a broken neck. Authorities believed his head had been bent back over the seat by one of the prisoners until his neck snapped while McClure was being held by the other youth with the crack shaft.

A diamond ring was still on Grove's finger and $40 in his pocket when the bodies were found. McClure's jewelry was also on him.

The auto in which the party left Lafayette was found several days ago at Decatur, Ill. There was a bullet hole through the windshield. No trace of the two prisoners has been found.

SEEK SLAYERS HERE.

Photographs of John Burns and Samuel Hunter, ex-convicts, who are accused of killing Deputy Sheriffs John P. Grove and Wallace McClure at Lafayette, Ind., will be distributed to all Chicago police stations today and all policemen will be urged to maintain a sharp watch for the men. Deputy Police Commissioner William E. O'Connor said the Lafayette police had expressed a belief they would try to hide here.

WATSON BLAIR WILLS HIS SON $12,500 A YEAR

Most of $1,550,000 Left in Trust for Widow.

Watson Blair, who was host to the Prince of Wales in 1924, will be limited to $12,500 a year income from the $1,550,000 estate of his father for the next twenty years, under the terms of the will of Watson F. Blair, retired Chicago capitalist, who died on Feb. 1. The final testament was filed yesterday before Edward S. Scheffer, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner.

Most of the estate is turned into a trust fund with the widow, Mrs. Alice Keep Blair, 299 Lake Shore drive, receiving all the income over the $12,500 a year. After her death, the allowance of the son will not be increased unless the trustee "in its absolute discretion shall deem it advisable and expedient."

Disposition of Trust Fund.
At the end of the twenty years, Watson Blair, who resides at 1540 Lake Shore drive, will receive all the income but not the principal of the trust fund, under the terms of the will. On his death, the principal shall be distributed, one-fourth to his widow and three-fourths to any lineal descendants. If he leaves no lineal descendant, the three-fourths is to go to charity, the document provides.

Gifts totaling $105,000 are bequeathed to charitable and other institutions. Mr. Blair, who died at the age of 74, left his real estate, estimated at $50,000, and his personal effects, not including money and securities, to his widow outright.

Other Bequests Listed.
Other bequests are as follows: St. Luke's hospital, $25,000; Children's Memorial hospital, $20,000; St. James' Episcopal church, $5,000; Art institute, $25,000; United Charities, $20,000.

Trustees of the trust fund and executors of the estate are named in the will as the Illinois Merchants Trust company and Mrs. Blair, the widow. The trust company, if she dies within twenty years, will determine whether Watson Blair's income from the estate should be increased.

PARIS SENATORS BAN WAR—FOR WOMEN, SELVES

Gallant Legislators Defy
Chamber of Deputies.

BY JAY ALLEN.

(Chicago Tribune From Service.)
(Copyright: 1928, by The Chicago Tribune.)
PARIS, Feb. 16.—Women and politicians are too precious to be exposed to the dangers of war, the French senate held tonight.

Almost unanimously the senators struck out one of the key provisions of M. Paul-Boncour's wartime organization law. Defying the chamber of deputies, which passed the bill last fall, the senators declared that women of all ages are exempt from nationwide conscription, which M. Paul-Boncour's socialist measure provided, regardless of age or sex.

Senator Jenuvriev said, while the entire senate cheered, that all the French women who had done duty spontaneously in the last war could be counted on to do the same in the next.

Opposes Drafting of Women.
"If we transform free consent into legal obligation we will justify the German's odious behavior in requisitioning French women in the northern industrial districts for work," Senator Jenuvriev told his colleagues.

Minister of War Paul Painleve protested hotly, saying: "You cannot compare the infamous deportation of women of the north with the legitimate requisition for the services of women in behalf of la patrie."

Then the question of conscripting members of parliament came up and an amendment was passed which read: "The members of parliament, who express the national sovereignty in time of war as well as peace, preserve their status regardless of mobilization."

Senators Over Fighting Age.
Senator Monteton of Burgundy insisted that the people's representatives ought to have to risk their lives to defend the country, just like anybody else, but Senator Kintz averred he thought it would be a pretty idea for the senators, all of whom are over fighting age, to let the members of the chamber of deputies, many of whom are under 40, decide.

"Let them decide whether they want to fight or not," he said. "We do not have to."

"For heaven's sake, let us take steps right now so that the next war will not have parliamentary commissions nosing around the front and getting under foot," urged Senator Monteton.

Then the white-whiskered Paul Doumer spoke up: "You can take my word for a fact, that if the secret legislative sittings listened to one certain parliamentary commission from the front, the fortress at Verdun would not have been left in such lamentable condition, that 200,000 Frenchmen would have had to die to hold it."

A section of pavement in Rhodes avenue near 79th street caved in yesterday, leaving a hole fifteen feet long, ten feet wide, and seven feet deep. Washing away of the dirt under the pavement is said to have caused the caving.

G. F. GETZ, HOME, RELATES PERILS OF AFRICAN HUNT

Hunting big game in Africa has its thrills and adventure, but says George F. Getz, Chicago millionaire coal dealer, "just give me my comfortable Chicago office for a while."

Mr. Getz returned yesterday after spending the last three months abroad. With his son George Jr., C. D. Caldwell, president of the E.P. Products Coke company, and Mrs. Caldwell; Harry Vissering of Kanilworth, Dr. Arthur Metcalf, chief surgeon for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, and Roland Hamard of New York he went over 2,500 miles of African territory, bagging countless animals of the jungle, large and small.

Six zebras, six giraffes, a young rhino, several monkeys, baboons, antelopes, panthers, and a few species of cats never seen in America before are being shipped in May for the Getz zoo in Holland, Mich. Skins, elephant tusks, heads and other trophies are also included in the shipment.

Mr. Getz told of how he and his son both lay ill with temperatures of 104 in the wilds of Tanganyika; how his son was barely saved from an operation for appendicitis, which Dr. Metcalf, however, was equipped to perform.

1 BOSS TO WARD WINS APPROVAL OF LEGISLATURE

Small, Big Bill, Brennan
Pact Puts Over Law.

BY PARKER BROWN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Springfield, Ill., Feb. 16.—[Special.]—After squelching through the Small-Thompson-Brennan compact for ward committees instead of precinct committees for Chicago, the special session of the Illinois general assembly hurried through the rest of its work and at 2 p. m. adjourned sine die.

It had been in existence six weeks, one week being spent in recess. The expense to the taxpayers was something more than $100,000 and the net result, except for amendments to the election statutes, consisted merely of the correction of errors of last year's regular session, in connection with bonding powers of local governments and their tax rates.

The original purpose of the special session was the passage of a new primary law, but the decision of the Supreme court upholding the 1927 or Schroeder law made that needless.

Here are measures passed.
This, in addition to the ward committee plan for Chicago, included bills covering the following subjects, which now have been passed and have become law, as Gov. Small signed them all at once:

Creating a primary certifying board consisting of the governor, the secretary of state, and the state auditor to pass on candidates, petitions now certified to county clerks by the secretary.

Providing a primary registration day for Chicago, which this year falls on March 13.

Authorizing women to act as election judges and clerks.
The finish of the session was a dreary affair. The senate had been making time for these bills to come over from the house. The house cleaned up and recessed. The senate met, approved the house amendments, and quit. It sent its sine die resolution over to the house. There it found only a score of members.

They were called to order and then quit by a viva voce vote.

The only fight on the last day of the session was on what had become known as the Small-Thompson-Brennan bill, because it included all the primary law changes, the ward committee change desired by the trio, and the shifting of the certifying power in conformity with Gov. Small's personal desires.

Debate Is Heated.
The debate on this measure was particularly hot in the house. There the Deane and Lowden forces were backed by a number of speakers who insisted that they were inspired by the belief that substituting ward committees for precinct committees removed the primary further from the people. Several of the opponents of the bill

Neighbors Praise Judge Thompson as Favorite Son of Roodhouse, His Old Home

BY LEVERING CARTWRIGHT.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Roodhouse, Ill., Feb. 16.—[Special.]—The birthplace of Floyd E. Thompson, the young justice of the Illinois Supreme court, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Illinois governorship in a one story town. The city hall, postoffice, and all but two homes in this Green county railroad junction rise only to that modest height. A house painted blue, with cupolas and spires and one painted green, of the same design, constitute the most notable exceptions to the unpretentious standard. They each rise two stories and are topped by attic floors.

Home of Thompsons.
Around the public square, shaded by forty-nine elm trees, the civic and business life of the town revolves. There is only one hard road in the town and horses are as popular still as automobiles.

Opposite the north side of the park is a solid row of one story shops with a common roof standing from their eaves to shade and shelter the sidewalk in front. Here is the home of the Thompson sons. The four room clapboard house, painted gray, in which Floyd Thompson was born in 1887 still is standing. Alonzo Thompson, the judge's father, brought his wife in town that winter when snow covered the fields of his farm, and there was no work to be done. W. A. Thompson, one of the twelve children of David Thompson, grandfather and that pressure had been exerted over night and had sufficed to change a number of votes. The count showed 105, with the opposition numbering 12.

Castle Leads Fight.
Opposition to the bill was led by Representative Howard P. Castle of Barrington, who said his speech was his swan song, and Chicagoans who supported him included John C. Garfield, Elmer N. Holmgren, Warren B. Douglas, and David I. Swanson. Their arguments were that the ward committee idea was a scheme of the bosses against the people, that the adoption of the amendments invited a new court injunction against the primary law, and that there was a plot to tie up the law and throw nominations into the old convention system.

The first test came on a motion to suspend the rules for immediate action, the vote on that being 106 to 15. Then when Representative Reed Cutler, administration floor leader, moved the previous question to shut off debate he won by only 98 to 22.

Telegram from Deane.
Representative Castle read a telegram from United States Senator Charles S. Deane, and another from a Chicago precinct captain, the latter threatening reprisals against the father of the bill. He was followed by Representative Thomas J. O'Grady, who insisted that the bosses preferred ward committees because "it's easier to bribe one man in a ward than it is forty or fifty."

In the senate, which has been regarded as a rubber stamp this session, an unusual situation developed. The first time the roll was called, it showed only 23 votes, one short of a two-thirds majority. The absentees were called and in a voice scarcely audible, of the Democratic candidate, is a book-keeper in the First National bank, one story.

When Floyd Thompson finished Roodhouse high school with highest honors and started teaching country school in Barrow, 2 miles away, he made his home with this uncle. W. A. Thompson remembered those days and nights of his nephew as industrious ones. After hiking home from school at night, Floyd Thompson sat down and pondered over the law books that he had borrowed. To perfect himself in his training for a career at the bar Floyd Thompson sandwiched in time for lessons in elocution under the instruction of his cousin, Agnes Myrtle Thompson, who later taught in Baylor university at Waco, Tex. She now is in the Bysanmore (Ill.) hospital under the care of her brother, Dr. D. O. Thompson of that town.

Predicts His Election.
Another relative of Floyd Thompson in Roodhouse is Mrs. Rachel Kidd, a sister of the jurist's grandfather, who had nine children. She is 88, but her memory is good, especially concerning Floyd. She is not surprised at her grand-nephew's success in political life and she does not even consider the possibility of his defeat. Floyd was a good boy, he studied hard and then taught school, she said. When he got into politics he just rose and rose, and he is a young man yet.

When court is not in session Floyd Thompson's wife and daughter Mary Senator Andrew S. Cuthbertson of Bunkerhill, recorded the thirty-fourth vote. Not having heard it, Senator Norman Flag of Moro, said he would change his vote to avoid the chaos that would result from Chicago's having no registration this spring. That made the total on the affirmative side 35, one more than needed, and when it was announced by Senator Richard J. Barr, presiding in the absence of Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling, who is in Florida for his health, Flag changed back to his original position.

Editor Tells of Judge's Boyhood.
"When in his four years' course at our high school as a student his gentlemanly and courteous demeanor, a result of his early training and natural instincts, single him out. I watched his progress and formed with him the attachment of a mature man and a young fellow. I knew him as a good student and hard worker and industrious in his work which he liked. He was conservative and had a mature mind, but those qualities did not detract from his popularity among those of his own age and were assets in his association with his elders.

With all his conservatism he had an unusually active mind. He was aggressive and purposeful and was strong in his convictions of right and wrong. He always knew where he was going and how to get there. He knew values and could weigh the values of men, goods, and service. If the people of Illinois can have the instinctive knowledge of what Floyd Thompson is there is no doubt but what he will be the next governor."

Mr. Merrill occupies the old Worcester home on Palm street which is directly across the street from the present residence of Floyd Thompson's father-in-law. One of Mr. Merrill's daughters, Jean, is a girlhood friend of Floyd Thompson. Mr. Merrill related Floyd Thompson still is interested in the affairs of his old home town.

Dog Bites Boy, Attacks Policeman; He Strangles It

A large German police dog, a pet in the family of J. M. O'Connell, 6546 Maryland avenue, became enraged last night and bit 7-year-old John O'Connell. After beating off the animal, all members of the family took refuge in the kitchen and locked the door against him. Police were notified, and Patrolman Horace Kelly went to the house. When the dog attacked him, Kelly seized it by the throat and choked it to death.

RAIDED WITHOUT WARRANT, DRY SLAYER ADMITS

Shot Gundlach in Self-Defense, Brewer Says.

By JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 16.—[Special.]—Down in old St. Mary's county, Maryland, on the sleepy peninsula formed by the Potomac and the Patuxent rivers, a group of men have been holding a secret meeting. It is "the law," and many of the most thriving citizens have the right opinion of the group and of the work they have chosen for it. That much is made clear in the current issue in the federal court here between the United States and the state of Maryland on federal prohibition enforcement in Maryland.

It was brought out by today's testimony that a stock salutation among home brewers of four per cent beer and the woodland manufacturers of energetic whiskey in St. Mary's county is, "If the law ever comes on to my place I will kill them all."

Sometimes "Law" Kills First.

It happens sometimes, however, that the law kills first, as in the case of Prohibition Agent Randolph Brewer, now on trial before United States Judge Coleman for shooting the aged home brewer, Charles V. Gundlach, to death on his farm in St. Mary's county on Sept. 15.

The accused Brewer, now at liberty on bail of $10,000, took the witness stand in his own behalf this afternoon. "You had no warrant to search Mr. Gundlach's house, had you?" he was asked.

"No, sir," was the answer. "You had no warrant for Mr. Gundlach's arrest, had you?" A—No, sir, I am not allowed to serve a warrant. No prohibition agent is allowed to.

Agent Brewer was emphatic in testifying as to the rules of courtesy which the enforcement officials at Washington impose upon their field agents. He said that on the fatal day, he advanced toward Gundlach's house to notify him that he and his three fellow agents were to investigate the premises in an effort to find a still.

"Why," he was asked, "did you wish to advise Mr. Gundlach that you were going to search the premises?" "Because that is a courtesy of our office," he replied.

Discounted Threat Story.

Brewer is a St. Mary's county man by birth and has many kindred and friends there, some of the latter of whom he acknowledged today that he used as informers. He also acknowledged that he had heard that Gundlach had said he would kill Brewer on sight if Brewer invaded his farm.

"But," Brewer continued, "I don't think that the person that told me that was fully responsible, nor did I think Mr. Gundlach was such a dangerous man."

Later he said: "When Mr. Gundlach came out of his house with his shotgun I thought I could make him listen to reason. When he fired, I said: 'For God's sake, Mr. Gundlach, stop firing. I've shot one of my men already and probably killed him.'"

Gundlach did not stop. Then it was good-by "courtesy."

PUT VOLSTEAD LAW MODIFICATION UP TO VOTERS IN MICHIGAN

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 16.—[Special.]

The first step in an effort to obtain an expression on prohibition from the Michigan electorate was taken today by Representative Robert D. Wardell of Detroit, director of the National Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. Mr. Wardell filed with the secretary of state, 5,000 signatures to a petition asking a vote in November on the question of permitting government control of the manufacture, distribution and sale of alcoholic beverages for home consumption only.

Mr. Wardell announced many more signatures would be filed later. The petition asks a change in the state constitution. Mr. Wardell pointed out his purpose is to place Michigan definitely in the wet column, and permit the state to take advantage of any changes in the national prohibition law that may be adopted.

"We want a vote in Michigan, believing the state would vote wet," Wardell said. "Such an expression would influence congress to modify the federal law."

and four bullets in the aged man's body, and he a corpse.

Claims Self-Defense.

"Why did you fire at Mr. Gundlach?" Brewer was asked. "I fired in self-defense for one reason, and in defense of Agent Fisher, who was lying on the ground," the witness replied.

"You thought you were in bodily peril?" was the next question.

"I did," Brewer said. Questioned as to whether he fired on Gundlach after he had fallen, which is what Mrs. Gundlach swears to, Brewer replied:

"Absolutely not."

Brewer frankly said of yesterday's sensational witness, Clyde Gold-borough:

"I was using him as an informer to uncover stills in St. Mary county."

Meanwhile, Clyde was courting Brewer's sister-in-law.

"Did you ever tell Clyde Gold-borough you would kill Mr. Gundlach?" Brewer was asked.

"I did not," he replied.

"You are positive about that?" his questioner persisted.

"Absolutely," was the answer.

Denies Sampling Product.

Brewer denied he ever had drunk any of Gundlach's home brew—swore, indeed to this:

"Except for the July and September raids I have been on his premises but once, and that was six years ago."

Brewer was cool, collected, intelligent and precise in his testimony. He made an excellent impression.

At the end of the day half a dozen character witnesses, mostly from Washington, were offered by the federal government in Brewer's behalf.

They gave him a reputation as a man might envy, one witness describing the agent's reputation "for truth and veracity and as a law abiding citizen."

As "perfect" and another describing it as "above reproach."

Mrs. Coolidge Better, but Still Foregoes Receptions

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—(P)—Mrs. Coolidge, who is ill, was said today at the White House to have spent a good night. The cold which has confined her to her room for a week, however, has not yet entirely disappeared, and she will be unable to be present tonight when the President receives officers of the army and navy and several other guests at the last of the White House receptions for this winter's social season.

DRY LEAGUER IS FINED $500 FOR CRIMINAL LIBEL

New Jersey Pastor Made Attacks on Judges.

New York, Feb. 16.—[Special.]—Dr. Marna J. Poulson, superintendent of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, today was found guilty by a Newark jury of criminally libeling three judges of that city. The jury deliberated only forty minutes.

The dry leader was immediately fined $500 by Common Pleas Judge Flannagan, who announced that he originally contemplated sentencing him to prison for the same offense.

His lighter punishment, he explained, was due to his consideration for "Dr. Poulson's cloth." The Rev. Mr. Poulson is an ordained Methodist minister.

Court Finds No Justification.

The defense announced even before the verdict was brought in that it would appeal.

The three men whom the state charged the Anti-Saloon League leader libeled were Judges Van Riper, Albano and Boettner.

The sudden end of defense efforts came just after Judge Flannagan had told Defense Attorney Halsey that in continuing to attempt to prove that vice was prevalent in Newark, without showing any connection of the three judges with lawbreaking, he was "defying the ruling of the court and merely killing time."

Unable to Prove Statement.

Mr. Halsey admitted that he would not be able to prove that Judges Van Riper, Albano, and Boettner had any direct connection with the alleged vice conditions, but maintained that all the defense had to prove was that gambling and bootlegging were openly indulged in in Newark, leaving the jury to conclude that the judges charged with law enforcement were cognizant of it.

The trial is based on a statement given to the press by the Rev. Mr. Poulson, in which he charged that the judges were "in on a game of a vicious combination between organized vice and disorganized law enforcement."

CATCHES LIQUOR PATROL WITNESS IN CONTRADICTION

Can't Recall Details of River Crash.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.
(Chicago Tribune Staff Writer.)
Detroit, Mich., Feb. 16.—[Special.]—Testifying for the state in Federal Judge Edward McInnes' court today, Edward Fitzsimmons suffered a sudden lapse of memory as to just what happened on the Detroit river last May 13, when his partner, August Lettner, steering a tugboat, was killed by the motor boat of Lee and Shannon, who were seeking liquor.

Lettner is on trial for the slaying of the little girl. The state charges he ran the Lee speed boat down deliberately and that Lettner and Fitzsimmons left the scene of the crash without attempting to render help.

A score or more of state witnesses, including a number who saw the crash, have been put on the stand by Ward Culver, assistant prosecuting attorney. Lettner is being defended by the government.

Denies Swerving Craft.
The witness said Lettner steered out into the river and went head on towards the motor boat of Lee and Shannon, and on which Fitzsimmons developed his lack of memory. Culver pulled out a statement Fitzsimmons had made concerning the wreck to James Chenot, chief assistant prosecutor, on the night it happened.

Contradicts Statement.
This statement showed: That Fitzsimmons had not seen any movement of the motor boat of Lee and Shannon while he was in the government boat at the barge.

That he, instead of Lettner, had held glasses.
That Lettner did turn sharply towards the boat of Lee and Shannon, and that neither he nor Lettner gave any warning of their intention, and any command to halt or any indication they wished to search the craft.

Fitzsimmons also had stated he heard neither Charles Stringari, who was thrown from the Lee boat into the river, nor anybody else call to them on the government boat.

PENNSYLVANIA AND NEW YORK ON 1928 FENCE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—[Special.]—Uninstructed delegations from New York and Pennsylvania may be the factor deciding the choice of the Republican national convention for President.

That Secretary of Commerce Hoover cannot expect the support of either in the early stages of the pre-convention campaign and that he must show vote getting ability in Ohio and other states has been made plain to his managers in conferences here during the last few days.

George K. Morris, Republican state chairman of New York, who, with Charles D. Hillis, national committee man from that state, is responsible for the decision to have an uninstructed delegation, was in Washington today and conferred with a number of Hoover supporters before calling on President Coolidge at the White House.

The Pennsylvania situation was canvassed earlier in the week, when Gov. Fisher of Pennsylvania came to Washington to attend a dinner given by Secretary of the Interior, Work, who is one of the active managers of the Hoover campaign. Gov. Fisher conferred while here with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, the controlling factor in the Pennsylvania Republican organization, who is desirous that the delegation from that state be uninstructed.

The Hoover managers believe that their candidate is likely to receive the support of the New York delegation when it develops that the "Draft Coolidge" movement, advocated by National Committee chairman Hillis and by Mr. Morris, fails to make headway.

Also they think that Secretary Mellon will swing his delegation to Hoover when the time comes and accordingly it is unlikely that Hoover's name will go on the primary ballot in Pennsylvania.

COUNCIL GROUP MAY FLIPFLOP ON TRANSIT BILL

Arvey Offers Way Out of Timeless Permit.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
The local transportation problem grew more involved yesterday with the report that the council subcommittee, drafting a proposed "terminable" permit bill, is about ready to change its mind again.

Ald. Jacob Arvey [24th] has suggested a short bill which would permit the city to grant a term franchise or a franchise without time limitation. Either would be granted on such terms and conditions as the city prescribed. It is almost certain that plan will be discussed at the meeting of the drafting committee this afternoon.

May Become Flip Flop.
If that idea is adopted, it will be the second "flip" and presumably the delicate task of preparing the third "terminable" permit will be entrusted to James W. Breen, acting corporation counsel.

This is the summary of the subcommittee's action toward the five transit bills that failed to pass at the last regular session of the legislature. The subcommittee started last July to prepare five substitute bills. Those were submitted to the committee last December. The committee replied on Dec. 9 that the proposed "terminable" permit bill, in their opinion, conferred the power of forfeiture on the

CHICAGO WOMAN SHAKES DEFENSE IN APPEAL TRIAL

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Grace Spies of the Kenmore Apartment hotel, Chicago, proved a surprise witness today for the prosecution in the murder trial of Dr. Charles McMillan, accused of slaying Mrs. Amelia Appleby.

"Mrs. Appleby was registered as his wife," Mrs. Spies said. "It was last August. I was making a bed in a room near the one they occupied. I heard muffled words that sounded like 'O, stop.' I took my pass key and entered the room. As I went in Dr. McMillan grabbed his hat and went out. Mrs. McMillan was lying on the bed. She was sobbing and sort of choking."

Mrs. M. A. King, now of Los Angeles, testified that she was in Flagstaff, Ariz., last Nov. 13, when Dr. McMillan and Mrs. Appleby registered as man and wife there. She occupied a room next to theirs in a hotel, Mrs. King said, and she could not avoid hearing a violent quarrel.

Later, Mrs. King admitted that she had entered into a business deal by which she and her husband, Carl Spies, leased a supposed hotel building from Dr. McMillan in Plantersville, Tex. The defense produced a letter which she had written to McMillan, demanding the return of money she had paid him in down payment.

The letter threatened to tell the police all the writer knew about Dr. McMillan. Mrs. Spies admitted authorship of the letter and also admitted that she had offered to come from Houston, Tex., to Los Angeles as a witness hostile to the defendant.

SIMPSON URGES IMPROVEMENTS ON SOUTH SIDE

Asks $4,000,000 Bonds for Better Streets.

Bond issues of $2,000,000 each for two major south side improvements, the widening of South Park avenue and Pershing road, were recommended yesterday by James Simpson, chairman of the Chicago Plan commission, for submission to the voters at the April primary.

South Park avenue, under the commission's plan, is to be widened from 121st street, and out through wherever it is interrupted to the city limits. Pershing road (39th street) will be extended west over Bubbly creek, which is to be filled in. Both improvements will furnish badly needed traffic arteries connecting with county highways.

Wants Avondale Started. Mr. Simpson also announced that he will ask that a $5,000,000 bond issue be submitted to start work on the $20,000,000 Avondale elevated highway to the northwest city limits.

None of the three proposed bond issues were included in a preliminary estimate, totaling $11,604,727, prepared for the April election last December by Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements. Each of the ten issues in Mr. Faherty's list are for street widening already under way. If Mr. Simpson's three new issues are approved by the city council they probably will be added to those of Mr. Faherty, bringing the total up to approximately $50,000,000, the largest ever submitted at one time.

Mr. Simpson's promise to recommend the additional improvements was made in a letter to Mayor Thompson, occasioned by demands of a delegation of south side business men and aldermen Wednesday for a larger share of improvements in that part of the city. The letter mildly rebuked that group for arousing "sectional jealousies."

Satisfies South Siders. Members of the south side delegation were quick last night to assure Mr. Simpson that they are satisfied. Ald. Leonard J. Grossman (5th), one of the leaders, bringing the commission chairman thanking him for his assurance that the south side projects are to go forward.

CHOICE OF JURY TO TRY HICKMAN SLOW PROCESS

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Work of sitting out a jury to sit in judgment at the murder trial of William E. Hickman and Weibey Hunt, his 16 year old former accomplice in crime, proved a slow process today.

Earlier today Hickman's attorneys filed written notice of appeal to the state supreme court on the youth's sentence to death for the slaying of Marian Parker. They indicated they would appeal the present case if Hickman were found both guilty and sane.

BELIEVE MISSING BANK TELLER ON LITTLE VACATION

After questioning a young woman who is a professional dancer in a south side cafe, and a male friend of George W. Anderson, youthful teller of the Calumet National bank, who has been missing since Wednesday, investigators yesterday began to abandon a theory that Anderson had committed suicide. Bank officials declared there was no shortage in the teller's accounts, and it is now believed he is merely on a trip.

Anderson's automobile, with his hat, glasses, bank book, and empty wallet on the floor, was found on the lake front in Grant park. This, in connection with the fact that he was suffering from a slight skin disease, led to the belief that he had drowned himself.

Miss Virginia Francis, 2961 East 95th street, an entertainer at the Gateway Inn, 95th street and Torrence avenue, told of seeing him long after the car was found. He displayed railroad tickets to New York, she added, and apparently had been drinking. Frank Lask, 11028 Avenue L, a friend of Anderson, said he had taken $1,300 from Anderson to prevent his throwing it away. To prove his statement he produced the money, which was turned over to the police.

Mrs. Ann Anderson, 7707 Constance avenue, wife of the missing man, admitted to Chief Grady that Anderson has recently spent money lavishly and spent much time away from home at night. She said she knew of no reason why he should desire to kill himself. Detectives guarded the vaults of the bank all of Wednesday night for fear that Anderson had fallen into the hands of a "time lock" bandit.

GUESTS, CLIMATE ABOUT ALL THEY LEFT IN MIAMI

Hotels Full, but Gambling Rackets Are Gone.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Miami, Fla., Feb. 16.—[Special].—At the start of one of its greatest seasons, Miami now finds its style cramped by the puritans. The umbrella totem have shut up the race track gambling, and the big spenders are unbetting their money in Havana. Racing was killed when pari-mutuels were held illegal. The only horses left are the polo ponies. Greyhound racing has gone to the bow-wows, leaving nothing but a small hot-dog stand. As to the jai alai players, who were wont to perform nightly before packed arenas—they have migrated to Chicago.

All this has led to an industrial as well as spiritual unrest for tourists and the leading industry of the place. Mayor E. G. Sewell, who has been here since the town started, estimates the loss to Miami by stopping the races the last week of the boom. At Miami beach for the last week, it has been nothing unusual for an arriving visitor to taxi to four or five hotels before finding accommodations. Many arriving guests have to wait until the trains leave before rooms are available. Apartment houses report larger patronage than last year.

The confusion and bedlam of 1925 have departed. The "blinder boys" have taken their knickerbockers to parts unknown. The real estate sharks who made Flagler street a nightmare during the boom have gone to other waters. The families who flocked down to pick up a fortune in a minute have gone home, leaving hillocks of empty cars in the old tourist camps. Somebody had to go to work. A small percentage is still left over, snatched by winter sunshine, but rents have fallen.

Hotel Accommodations.
Few visible signs of the hurricane are left, except for a few stranded boats. The recovery has been astonishing. The palm trees are flourishing, the buildings have been repaired, and until one drives into the interior, there are few tokens of the devastating storm.

Miami makes boast that it is fourth city in the United States in hotel accommodations. It figures it has close to $50,000,000 invested in hotel properties, not including golf courses, polo grounds, and other attractions. It has, approximately, 144 hotels and 1,400 apartment houses with a capacity of about 100,000 guests. For ten years before the big development started a few years ago, it was turning visitors away every season, but now Miami says its accommodations are exceeded by only three cities, New York, Chicago, and Atlantic City.

A capacity crowd in one season is computed to mean a gross revenue of $100,000,000.

Thrifty Tourists.
This year's crowd, in general, appears more thrifty than in other years. It goes in for more window shopping, but its buying is not up to expectation. The hotels have a large proportion of guests who go outside to less expensive cafes and restaurants for their meals. And when one goes shopping for grape fruit and ham and eggs it must be said that eating in Miami

L. C. SUES TO CLEAR TITLE SO AIR RIGHTS MAY BE DEVELOPED

The Illinois Central railroad yesterday appealed to the circuit court to clear its title to contemplated air rights development on its Randolph street property. The petition sets up that the use of the property's air rights is essential to the growth of the city.

The principal defendant in the suit is the United States Trust Co. of New York, named trustee under a bond issue against the line in 1874. Other defendants are holders of the bonds, of which between $15,000,000 and $18,000,000 are outstanding.

The court is asked to clear the title to the air rights from any cloud due to the mortgage guaranteeing the bonds. The pleading points out that air rights were not contemplated when the indebtedness was incurred and that there is an excess of security without considering the value of air rights.

Both Nassau and Havana are regarded as Miami assets. There is a great tourist movement to both these places where Volsteadism is unknown. For the last week the boats coming and going to Havana have had large passenger lists. And Miami gets them both ways.

The liquor here, connoisseurs say, is getting weaker, due to the vigilance of the coast guard. Still, supplies are said to be here in considerable volume, although the bulk of it is out. Experts say the town is almost as wet as Detroit.

Old Times Hopeful.

And there are many gambling games. What irks Miami, however, is to see the boats pull out carrying the easy spenders attracted by race track gambling in Havana. Some prominent citizens go so far as to express a belief that Cuban promoters, in an endeavor to keep Miami from being a playground for all classes of pleasure seekers, is carrying on its pay rolls a missionary squad which peddles long faced arguments against the legalization of horse race and dog race gambling in Florida. Racing, they argue, would have detained $25,000,000 in Miami this season which otherwise goes to Havana.

"O. well," said one leading old timer today, "we were hit by the boom and we survived. We were struck by the hurricane and recovered. Now we're hit by the reform racket and we'll probably emerge."

BRIDGEMAN RIPS CRITICS OF TORY NAVAL POLICIES

Blames the Socialists for Warship Building.

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Feb. 16.—Stung to fury by the biting attack of the Liberals on the Conservatives for the failure of the Geneva naval disarmament conference, W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty, today delivered a broadside into the enemy camp. He accused them of making party capital of misrepresentation of the government's stand and proceeded to "pass the buck" for the erstwhile naval expansion to the Socialists.

"I want to explode the suggestion that we started new competition in the building of large cruisers," Mr. Bridgeman said. "The accusation is false. It was the other countries. In any case, what this country has done is the building of large battleships was not the work of the Conservative party, because the people who began the building of the battleships were the Socialists in 1914. That party deserves the credit for it and little credit for anything else they have done."

Attacks Tories' Critics.
Replying to Sir Herbert Samuel's accusation that the Conservatives mismanaged the Geneva conference, Mr. Bridgeman said the British policy of building twenty-five 10,000 ton cruisers was not intended to cause war, because the country does not entertain a warlike spirit. He advised his listeners not to notice American building and base an amicable agreement upon separate needs.

As a parting shot, Mr. Bridgeman advised the Liberals, if they wanted to render a service to the country, to cease discrediting the government for what was done with regard to disarmament, saying the present regime had done more than anybody else in that direction.

"We are prepared to go further if the other countries will do the same," Mr. Bridgeman said, "but I do not believe a weak British navy would contribute to the peace of the world. We would be glad to abolish the submarine, but must consider the weaker, poorer countries, who regard submarines as a means of defense."

(Secretary of State Kellogg said recently that the United States would be willing to abolish submarines if the other nations of the world would agree to do likewise.)

To Examine Soviet Plan.
GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Boldly facing the problem of disarmament despite numerous factors deemed adverse for success at this time, the league of nations today officially announced that its decision to convene the preparatory disarmament commission on March 15 will be adhered to.

Furthermore, M. Loucheur of the Netherlands, president of the commission, has recalled to all members, who include the United States and Russia, that the agenda requires examination of the recent soviet proposal for the complete abolishment of all armaments.

Other items on the agenda are the progress in arbitration and security, which is regarded as the basis of a reduction in armaments, and the progress of the work of the commission itself in preparation for an international conference.

As elections are to be held soon in France and Germany, some representatives have been insisting that it would be wiser to postpone the session of the disarmament commission for several months.

CANADA BUDGET GIVES HEAVY TAX AND TARIFF CUTS

Nation's Debt Reduced
$42,000,000.

BY GEORGE SMITH.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 15.—With estimated total tax reductions of $19,000,000 announced to the Canadian public in today's budget speech by Finance Minister James A. Robb, the government party is acclaiming what it declares to be a real prosperity budget.

Crowded galleries greeted the gray finance minister's presentation, the only interruption being a burst of sarcastic laughter from the conservative opposition, when Mr. Robb said: "Canadians are returning home from the United States, and Canada once more is building solidly for the future."

In today's budget the Canadian income tax, cut 10 per cent last year, is slashed another 10 per cent, with the object of bringing it still nearer the low impost prevailing in the United States.

Exemption of $400 is announced for mentally or physically incapacitated persons over 21 years of age.

Corporation Tax Is Cut.
Canada's corporation income tax is reduced to 8 per cent from the approximate 9 per cent which previously prevailed.

The sales tax, a war revenue measure of some years standing, reduced from 6 to 4 per cent last year, is further reduced in today's budget to 3 per cent.

The outstanding tariff change in a host of minor adjustments generally downward, is a reduction of the maximum rate on cottons under the general tariff from 37½ per cent to 30 per cent.

There also is a varied and intricate downward revision on woolen goods tariffs, in an effort to make clothing cheaper for Canadians. Mining machinery duties are lowered and binder twine is listed free. There are more than 100 minor tariff changes.

Debt Reduced $42,000,000.
Mr. Robb estimated the revenue for the fiscal year ending March 31 next at about $410,480,000 and expenditures for the same period at $368,480,000.

A storm of applause greeted the minister's announcement of debt reduction last year about $40,000,000 and an estimated surplus this year of nearly $50,000,000. He estimated that further national debt reduction on this fiscal year's operations would total nearly $40,000,000. He found a $147,000,000 favorable trade balance for the first nine months of the present fiscal year ending this March 31.

Previously, British empire made goods had to be 25 per cent empire labor and materials. That percentage is doubled in today's budget.

DR. PRICE'S VANILLA

RICH IN FLAVOR
PURE vanilla extract is the product of a tropical fruit—delicate in flavor, exquisite in fragrance. It is an essence, strong, rich and refined. To give it rare, mellow ripeness it is slowly aged in wooden casks. This is why vanilla flavors made from lesser materials are raw and unappetizing. Price's is the pure extract.

INQUIRY ORDERED INTO KILLING OF 2 BY POLICEMAN

Coroner Oscar Wolff yesterday ordered a thorough investigation of the killing of two men and the wounding of a third in the restaurant of Blanche Wilson, 3353 South Michigan avenue, by Serg. Thomas Cooper of the detective bureau Monday night.

Stories told by the witnesses at the inquest on Wednesday differed radically from that told after the shooting by Cooper and tended to show that the three victims of the sergeant's bullet had made no hostile move.

Coroner gave his order for an inquiry after reading the transcript of the evidence at the hearing.

Charge Revolver "Planted."
The men killed were Charles Patrick, alias Green, 2046 West Roosevelt road, and Edward Benesh, alias Smith, 1633 West Congress street. Morris Patrick, father of the first named, asserted in his testimony that his son was unarmed at the time of the killing and that a revolver was later planted by the police to bolster up the story that the three were holdup men.

In fact, Patrick declared, the Wilson restaurant was only a blind for a house of ill fame and Cooper had no business in it.

"My boy went there with no intention of making a disturbance," Patrick said. "He went to ask Blanche Wilson to pay a hospital bill for him because he had contracted disease in her place."

Statement Is Corroborated.

FEDERAL JUDGE HITS LAWLESS VOLSTEAD RAIDS

Cooperation of police and federal agents in making prohibition raids without search warrants was dealt a blow yesterday. Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe sustained a motion to suppress evidence in the case of Owen J. MacAlone, president of the Producers' Warehouse company, 419 West 15th street; the M. and E. Warehouse, 1235 South Canal street, and three other defendants.

Holding a raid made by police who called in dry agents and the federal agents, later getting a warrant, was not legal, Judge Cliffe dismissed the charges.

Attorney Edwin Weis, defense counsel, announced that he will institute suit to dissolve temporary injunctions against the two warehouses raided.

Edward L. Geisbeck, Frank Krusick, and August Reinke were freed with MacAlone. Morris Goldberg entered a plea of guilty and was fined $1,000.

ACCUSED OF POSING AS COP.
George Stineham, 33, of 7605 Kenwood avenue, arrested yesterday on a charge of impersonating an officer. It is alleged that he tried to roll four men in the Calumet hotel, 7500 De Soto street, and searched them, while pretending to be a policeman.

Identified as a stickup man and killer. Gold, in a statement to Deputy Coroner Rothenburg, corroborated the elder Patrick.

Serg. Cooper said he fired on the men when they started to choke Mrs. Wilson. Gold asserted that as soon as they entered the place, and before they had made any request of any kind, they were fired on from behind a curtain.

Supporting Cooper's story was Mrs. Wilson. She said the three men held drawn revolvers and commanded every one in the place to hold up their hands. She added that, although the second and third floors of the building contained eight rooms, no one stayed there except herself and one waitress, Vera Allen. Deputy Coroner Rothenburg asserted, however, that he had the names of five women who were in the house when Cooper shot.

ESTATE, MANAGED FROM GRAVE 35 YEARS, RELEASED

Value of Dunham Property Increased Manyfold.

Crepe was hung on the door of one of Chicago's oldest mansions yesterday, a three-story brick building at 133 South Michigan avenue that antedates the civil war. It marked the end of the business career of John H. Dunham, pioneer, who has been dead since April of 1923.

For 35 years, Mr. Dunham had managed most of his $1,000,000 estate from his grave, through a peculiar provision of his will, inspired by a vision of Chicago's growth. The estate that was worth $1,000,000 in 1893, has increased in value many fold.

Last Child Is Dead.

This post mortem control ended with the death Wednesday of his last surviving child, Miss Mary Virginia Dunham, who was close to 80 years old. Her funeral will be held this afternoon at the family residence at 50th street and Dorchester avenue, and his old store still standing at the southwest corner of State street and Wacker drive.

Her passing releases heirs from the terms of Mr. Dunham's will that prohibited them from disposing of the ancient house, a tract of ten acres that was his country estate at 50th street and Dorchester avenue, and his old store still standing at the southwest corner of State street and Wacker drive.

"He had faith in the growth of the city," a relative explained. "He also had more faith in himself than his children. For their good, he wanted to make them hold on to his real estate. The rise in valuations, doubling many times since his death, has proved his foresight."

Disposition by Will.

Miss Dunham was the last of the pioneer's three children. Mrs. Le Vanche Dunham Rolison died in 1878 and Mrs. Elizabeth D. Hawes, wife of Judge Kirk Hawes, has been dead several years.

Mr. Dunham, a sugar merchant, realty operator and founder of the Merchants Loan and Trust company, gave his daughters authority to dispose of their interest in the real estate by will only and the bequests were not to be effective until after the last survivor had died. Grandchildren and great-grandchildren will now enjoy the fruits of his wisdom. Grandchildren include Robert M. Rolison, 209 South La Salle street; Mrs. Henry Shaw of Chicago, and Mrs. Clarence Boyd of Nashville, Tenn.

The release of the will's control over the real estate opens the way for the heirs to improve the property, but they

PROSECUTORS TO ASK QUICK TRIAL OF DR. RONGETTI

CRIMINAL COURT.
Salvatore Genoa, janitor, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Frank Comerford.
Eugene McHaffey, burglar, sentenced 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Stanley Kieruloff.

Constant efforts at intimidation of the state's witnesses is to be made the basis of a motion this morning before Judge Frank Comerford in the Criminal court for immediate trial of Dr. Amante Rongetti, head of the Ashland Boulevard hospital, who is under indictment for murder of Miss Loretta Enders, 19, daughter of an abortion. Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne and Charles Bellows will ask that the trial be advanced from Feb. 27 to Feb. 26.

"The continual effort to frighten away our witnesses by threats and physical violence should be sufficient ground for advancement of the trial date," said Prosecutor Ditchburne. "If these tactics are allowed to go on the spirit of the witnesses will be broken and justice will be defeated."

Attorney William Scott Stewart, who has been retained to represent Rongetti, said he will oppose the motion. The seizure of Mrs. F. H. Fitch, 5618 Drexel boulevard, on Wednesday was the latest effort at witness intimidation, the prosecutors said. Mrs. Fitch was confronted by two masked men who twisted her arms until she revealed the secret homes of other state witnesses.

They were reluctant to discuss their plans before the funeral.

Miss Dunham, since her father's death, has lived in the family mansion, and there she died. For the last 20 years her companion was her cousin, Miss Lucy Belle Dunham, many years her junior.

The aged spinster lived a quiet life. Like her father before her, she devoted more attention to her business than her social interests. She was active in the management of her affairs to the last, whereas her social activities were limited to visits from members of Chicago's older families.

Bandits Make Too Much Noise; Cops Capture Two

Their rough treatment of a victim early yesterday caused the arrest of two youthful robbers in Berwyn. One of the pair struck August Gnuchal, 2440 South Harvey avenue, Berwyn, on the face with a revolver. The weapon was discharged and a police squad nearby heard the report. They captured the men, who gave the names of James Pirka and Daniel Mendila, both of 1523 West Jackson boulevard.

MAYOR'S PATRIOT FOUNDATION GOES AFIELD FOR FEES

'America First' Converts Sought in New Orleans.

Seeking new converts to its patriotic cause at the usual charge of $10 each, Mayor Thompson's America First foundation has established headquarters in New Orleans and soon intends to branch out to other cities, it was announced yesterday.

J. M. Stearns and Howard Honan, said to be the men who sold the mayoralty on the foundation idea, were the promoters who carried his political slogan to New Orleans. They went there, it was learned, after Thompson's Mississippi steamboat excursion, apparently expecting to find the southerners in a glib mood to accept a drop of 10 cents for the harvest. Their office is in the Roosevelt hotel.

Tells Expansion Plans.

"As soon as the New Orleans organizers get under way we will send lectures, start citizenship classes, and distribute literature," said John J. Murphy, foundation secretary. "Later we will spread into every large city in the land."

Membership sales of late haven't been so rapid in Chicago, it was learned. A drive among the policemen last December was fairly successful, but it went flat among the firemen. Mr. Murphy offered to sign an affidavit yesterday that only nine firemen have joined the foundation.

A statement issued by Fire Commissioner Goodrich, assuring members of the department that no coercion would be used to make them join, may have caused their sudden lack of interest, it was said.

34 Classes Here, He Says.

Thirty-four citizenship classes, with 1,968 registered students, have been organized in Chicago industrial plants, community centers, and evening schools, Mr. Murphy announced. Radio programs are broadcast weekly. The foundation, according to Mr. Murphy, has gained a strong foothold in the public schools. Five thousand boys in the high school R. O. T. C. are receiving its literature, while the school of Republic plan, fostered by the foundation, is established in several schools. Two members of the executive council are H. Wallace Caldwell, new school trustee, and Maj. F. L. Beale, school R. O. T. C. commandant.

MAYOR REBUKES HOUSTON, BACKS GOODRICH IN ROW

Mayor Thompson stepped into the row between Fire Commissioner A. W. Goodrich and Thomas J. Houston, president of the civil service commission, yesterday with a sharp rebuke to Mr. Houston "for not giving the firemen a square deal" in promotional examinations.

The mayor's statement, sent in a letter to Mr. Goodrich to be forwarded to seventy-five fire engineers, was seen as a full pledge of his support to the fire commissioner in his battle with the civil service commission which grew so hot Wednesday that Mr. Goodrich threatened to resign "unless Houston keeps his hands off the fire department." Trouble between the two cabinet heads had been brewing for months and both had made angry protests to the mayor.

Mayor Embarrassed.

The friction burst into flame when the commission declared the engineers ineligible to take examinations for lieutenantcies next Saturday, as asked by Goodrich. The engineer's union had threatened to take the question to court.

Mayor Thompson's letter, addressed to the engineers, said: "Appreciating the long standing friendship of the firemen of Chicago for me, and my constant endeavors to see that the fire fighters get a square deal, I regret to state that I am embarrassed by the action of Mr. Houston who does not carry out the desires of the mayor, and who I understand by his action, is violating upon many of the men in your division of the fire department, unfair treatment which is not in accordance with law."

Approves Court Action.

"Any fire engineer who believes that he has been unlawfully deprived of an opportunity to take promotional examination to insure any court proceedings to secure his rights without prejudice on my part."

In Peoria, where Mr. Houston is attending a firemen's convention, he said last night that he would resign "if the firemen are not given a square deal."

MEXICO TO START AIRPLANE MAIL SERVICE TO U. S.

National Railways to Have Aerial Line, Too.

BY JOHN CORNYN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 16.—Railroads, government and private enterprises and chambers of commerce have reacted to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's flight to Mexico and Central America in a way that promises rapid development of aviation south of the Rio Grande.

It was announced from the headquarters of the Mexican National Railways today that the system is about to inaugurate an aerial express. It also was announced from the federal department of communications and public works that the government finally has decided to open an aerial postal line between Mexico City and the United States. It will enter American territory at Laredo.

To Connect Important Cities.
Once established, the international route and its branch lines will connect with all cities on the way and with other important points in Mexico. The best aviators in Mexico will be placed in the international aerial mail service. Special inducement will be given young men to enter training for positions as pilots.

An official of the national postal service said today that the rapid extension of the aerial post would increase the postal income, as letter postage by air would be 50 centavos (25 cents), instead of 10 centavos (5 cents), the cost of carrying letters by railway mail in Mexico.

"There are innumerable places in Mexico where the post takes from one to two weeks to arrive," the postal official said. "Important business concerns in such places would gladly pay 50 centavos to have communication with the capital of the republic in ten to twenty hours. Thus Mexico's need for air mail is much greater than in those countries like the United States, where the postal service in general is excellent and fast."

Credit to Lindbergh.
"I predict the rapid development of the aerial post here, thanks to the impetus given aviation by the visit of Col. Lindbergh, followed by the visit of the French aviator."

Subscriptions to the fund to defray the expenses of Pilot Emilio Carranza's proposed flight from Mexico City to Washington, amounting to half the necessary funds, have been received and the subscription list has not yet been opened formally. This indicates the keen interest in aviation Col. Lindbergh's flight has awakened here.

FIREMEN HALT SERVICE.
Cedar Rapids, Ia., Feb. 16.—[Special.]—Libbie Kups, 18, was snatched from death by the fire department today. She was found trying to kill herself with gas today, and the fire department was called instead of an ambulance. The firemen had a pulmotor and they revived the girl.

TRACE $26,000 OF TEAPOT OIL DEAL TO G. O. P. FUND

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—[Special.]—Representatives of two New York brokerage houses testified before the senate's Teapot Dome investigating committee today, confirming evidence that at least $26,000 of Harry F. Sinclair's $75,000 contribution to make up the Republican national committee's 1926 campaign deficit came from his share of the profits of the Continental Trading company, Ltd., deal.

Joseph P. McMahon of Potter & Co., and James Barnhart of C. F. Childs & Co., both New York bond brokerage firms, described how Potter & Co. sold the $75,000 of bonds, among which $26,000 have been identified by their serial numbers as some of Sinclair's Continental bonds, for the Empire Trust company, to C. F. Childs & Co.

100 REBELS RAID NICARAGUA TOWN. RESIDENTS FLEE

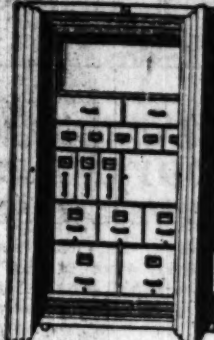

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 16.—While 180 mounted marines searched the district around Matagalpa and Jinotega for Gen. Augusto Sandino's bandits, a group of 100 mounted Sandinistas last night raided the village of Trinidad, on the main road between Managua and Ocosta. The rebels terrorized the village, looted stores, and forced hundreds of peaceful residents to flee ten miles to Sebaco. This morning the bandits broke up into small groups and fled into the mountains.

It now is estimated that there are 300 Sandinistas in the district of Jinotega, whose plan is to make quick night raids, then break up into small groups and sleep in the jungle by day. The airplane carrier Saratoga arrived at Corinto today with airplanes and personnel to increase the marine flying squadron at Managua. Rear Admiral David Sellers also is due on the cruiser Rochester.

Reading, Music Gladden Elmer's Radio Evening

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.
A light, light radio night, and this a light, light radio story.
The weekly O'Henry story, from New York, through KTV, 7 to 7:30, was "Mammon and the Archer," a familiar story, having been given from this or some other station recently, and I am referring to it because last week I thoughtlessly wrote O'Hara instead of O'Henry! The Friml program from this station, 7:30 to 8, was typical of the recent Friml program from W-G-N.

I considered the bridge game orchestral program from New York, through W-G-N, 8 to 9, as clever, clever in that from start to finish the titles of the selections played were turned to bridge game account.
Most of the all too common fanciful stories woven around musical programs are tiresome, wasting time and energy. This was an exception to the rule. And the light music was good. Concert goes and studiously minded listeners had Lolo's C minor trio, by the Whitney trio, WMAQ, 8:15, to 9, in mind.

I often find Announcer Bill Hay's Old-Fashioned Almanac feature from W-G-N, 7 to 7:30, well got up. The writer of the lines, whoever he was or is, deserves, I think, a bit of publicity. In this feature an article of novel interest is read, then the orchestra plays a tune, giving our subconscious minds a chance to digest or memorize it.
Between 9 and 9:30 I was in the mood to speak well of a tenor soloist with initials P. P. at one of the more droll length stations, but the announcer changed the mood by calling the program a program.
Turning away quickly, I caught the strains of Percy Grainger's fascinating Mock Morris dance, played by one of W-G-N's concert orchestras, at 9:30. Let's hope the soprano who was plenty of time for further composition.
Tommy Coates, baritone, in his brief recital from W-G-N, 9:30, sprang what I considered a surprise, a song by Anna Case, the soprano, entitled "Longing." It is of a lament nature, quite effective, and with a charmingly colorful piano accompaniment.
The weekly New York operatic concert through KTV, 9 to 10, opened with Massenet's overture to Phedre, which was new and quite as treat. The entire program was high class.

SENATE ORDERS SOFT COAL MINES INQUIRY; 3 STATES AFFECTED

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—[Special.]—Investigation of conditions in the bituminous coal mining regions of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio was authorized today by the senate.
The resolution of Senator Johnson (Rep., Cal.), approved yesterday by the committee on interstate commerce, was adopted without a record vote today after the senate by a vote of 15 to 60 rejected an amendment of Senator Reed (Rep., Pa.) for an inquiry into the coal freight rates.
Under the Reed amendment the investigation would have also determined whether any mining regions had been unfairly stimulated by advantageous freight rates.
This was intended to open up the controversy involved in the late cargo coal case before the interstate commerce commission in which Pennsylvania coal interests are arrayed against those of Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Virginia.

Terre Haute Conference Falls.
Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 16.—[U. P.]—Efforts of Indiana union miners and coal mine operators to reach a working agreement to replace the temporary agreement, expiring April 1, failed today. The subcommittee decided they would submit the entire controversy to the full senate committee of both sides on Feb. 23.

DEATH CLAIMS VAN VECHTEN'S WIDOW AT 68

Mrs. Fannie Brownell Maynard Van Vechten, widow of Ralph Van Vechten, who was president of the State Bank of Chicago at his death seven months ago, died yesterday in her home, 2844 Lincoln Park West. She had been ill of heart disease for several weeks.
Mrs. Van Vechten was a native of Tama, Ia., and was 68 years old. She was married to Mr. Van Vechten on Oct. 19, 1887. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Duane Van Vechten, who was at the bedside when she died. Mrs. Van Vechten, by her husband's will, inherited the bulk of his $500,000 estate. She was known as an accomplished painter of china and won a $1,000 prize for her work in this art at the Chicago world's fair.
Funeral services, which will be attended only by close friends and relatives, will be held at the residence tomorrow at 3 p. m.

HUNDREDS VIEW BODY OF BROWNE; FUNERAL SUNDAY

Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 16.—[Special.]—Hundreds stood in line at the home of Lee O'Neill Browne this afternoon for a glimpse of the body of the legislator who was drowned yesterday in the Fox river, following a fall from an embankment in the rear of his home. The body will lie in state until Sunday afternoon, when funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock.
Charles C. Craig of Galesburg, Ill., former chief justice of the Illinois Supreme court, will deliver the funeral oration. Maconic rites will be conducted at the home and the body will be taken to Chicago Monday for cremation at the Oakwoods cemetery. Members of the Illinois house of representatives, by a resolution adopted today, will attend the funeral as a committee of the whole.

Following are the active pallbearers chosen to serve at the Browne funeral: Robert Carr, Thomas Farrell, L. M. Harvey, Oscar Haebeck, A. S. Butters, and M. Dale Morahan, all of Ottawa.

Fines Collected on 1927 Auto Tags Will Be Kept

Automobile owners who paid $2,500 in fines Tuesday for failure to have 1928 city license tags cannot recover the money. City Prosecutors Frank Pecka said last night. Mr. Pecka had recommended to Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court that the fines be returned. Police collected $2,500 in fines on Feb. 16, 1928. The court was so bad that the drive was called off. But there is no way under the law to return fines, Mr. Pecka found.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK BY JANE EDDINGTON. One New Cook Book.

It is not pleasant to recommend cook books, though I am frequently called upon to do so. In doing so it is taken for granted that the recommendation is of every recipe in the given book—a blanket, leaving no jewelry for individual tastes and judgments. In this matter of recipes, any way, people do love to have a go-at-some one to blame for a failure. They enjoy it, seemingly, almost as much as succeeding with a recipe and make twenty times the fuss.

"The Congressional Club Cook Book" is an interesting book. It contains a wealth of recipes of quite uneven worth or value. It has received considerable attention in the news columns of the daily papers, which leads me to say that I am not reviewing the book, for I bought and paid for a copy. Since it did not come as a compliment, I am under no obligations whatever.

Here are some things about this work: It contains not a few novelties, rather than some old things announced as new. [First and last we hear of many recipes announced as new, the Queen's Closet Opened.] After spending but an hour with the book, I should say that these novelties were asked me to furnish. There seems to be a new interest in such, for I have had more than one inquiry about the recipes I gathered in some countries of Europe when many years ago I studied in various cooking schools there and went about to such localities as were famed for their special products, such as Strasbourg for pate-de-fougras, Götting for its kranzchen, Genoa and Scotland for their cakes, Bath for its buns, and Paris for almost everything.
Now, my dear readers who happen not to be interested in these things, just let me suggest to you that some other people are, and you do not have to be. I do not expect to please everybody every day by my offerings, and like to provide a varied diet. In the course of writing as often as 365 days in the year, I have to—"like it or lump it." Try it!

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Giving the News Away.
I am a minister's wife and the mother of three small children. I thought I had long ago learned to say or do nothing before the children that I would not like to become public. However, I still have something to learn. My most embarrassing moment was one Sunday morning when, standing talking to a very spiritually minded group of women, my small son, aged 5, said, "You must have gone to Sunday school real early this morning, Mrs. L., because I saw you going by when mother was just mending my stockings." F. A. J.

Which Makes It Worse.
I am in the habit of calling my jolly boss, for whom I have been working a number of years, "Uncle Charley." One morning, although much absorbed in my work, I instinctively felt somebody enter our office. Thinking it was my boss I said, "Top of the morning, Uncle Charley." I just found out that his nickname is "Charley," too. M. M. G.

Pressureless Touch

This pen's feather-light weight alone is sufficient to start and keep it writing. Scarcely any pressure from your fingers is required—no effort, no fatigue.
Doubly remarkable because the new Duofold is 28% lighter than when made with rubber, due to Permalloy, a new material which is also 100 times as strong as rubber—in fact, Non-Breakable.
But Pressureless Touch is most important because of its effect of taking all the effort out of writing. Try it at your nearest dealer's.
Five smart colors—Lacquer, Imperial, Mandarin Yellow (new) and flashing Black and Gold—all black-tipped.

Three sizes—Over-size, the Junior and slender Lady Duofold, each offering six styles of pen points, $5 and $7. Duofold Pencils to match, $3, $3.50 and $4.
Get all these Parker features by being sure to look for "Geo. S. Parker-DUOFOLD" on each pen or pencil.
"A banker once said to me about his Parker pen: 'I purchased this pen 27 years ago. So far as I can see, it is just as good today as it was at the time of purchase. I have used it practically every working day in my bank business since its purchase.'
"Ever since I have been in the manufacturing business, my aim has been to build PARKER pens for service of that kind."

Bright Sayings
of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each child's saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unsolicited contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Amy Lee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Little Bobby, aged 3, was so fond of playing with his toy automobile that he had on one occasion refused to part with it when it was time to go home. He had, therefore, been forbidden to ask for it when he called again. But Bobby was a budding diplomat. On his next visit he asked, "How is your toy automobile running now?" And upon being told it was in good order he remarked casually, "O, I didn't want it. I just wanted to be sure nobody had burgled it!"

Needless to say, he got the "auto-bide."

In these some among our readers who has the much desired instrument to give this disabled ex-serviceman I am sure he would be a lot happier with it.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—(Special)—The series of state receptions for the White House closed tonight for this season when the Army and Navy were the honor guests. Mrs. Coolidge's cold which has kept her in her room for a week, prevented her from attending the affair. Beside the president receive the large company.

The Congressional club has issued invitations for a reception in compliment the Vice President and Mrs. Dawkins Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias H. Strawn of Chicago, who came for the dinner for the President and Mrs. Coolidge given by society Work Tuesday night, have returned.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Winterbotham of Chicago are making a visit here at the Carleton this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rush C. Butler of Chicago, who have been at the Wardman Park hotel this week, departed yesterday for home.

So these temporary manifestations should be given time to wear themselves off before remedies are sought. It is believed that the use of hydrogen peroxide will stimulate the growth of superfluous hair. It is said that during the world war, when every moment was a nightmare of suffering, German women were afflicted by this enemy to beauty. It does not follow, however, that all women who worry are potpourri addicts. The women who wish to reduce the visibility of facial hair by the use of a bleaching. To one tablespoonful of hydrogen peroxide add one drop of lemon juice. With a brush or cotton wool apply this mixture every night. Make a fresh application for each occasion.

Electrolysis is the favored permanent way of removing these excess hairs. This is the electrocution of the hair papilla by means of a tiny electric current applied by a dermatologist. The needle penetrates to the hair root. This expert service has its price.

A group of songs by Handel, Brogna, Duparc, and Delibes displayed his fresh, gracious voice in a most favorable aspect. This was particularly so in the Handel number, Poppea's aria from "Agrippina," which was beautifully sung. E. M.

PEASANTS' NEEDS OUTSTRIP SOVIET MILLS' CAPACITY

Shortage of Grain Due to Lack of Manufactures.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
MOSCOW, Russia, Feb. 16.—Russia is now going through its annual crisis over food supplies. There are shortages in many articles which the government is overcoming by rushing reserve supplies to the cities.

The grain problem is the root of the trouble. Peasants throughout the Soviet Union show no disinclination to part with their wheat, corn, and other crops if they can use the proceeds to purchase articles they require, such as clothing, sugar, tea, coffee, harnesses, agricultural implements, and various other manufactured articles. They are frequently reluctant to sell their grain, however, when they find the stores' stocks depleted and are unable to buy the goods they need. Often they turn their sleds around, drive back to their farms, and restore the grain to their barns, waiting for a more favorable occasion to sell. During that period the grain may be ruined by rats or damaged otherwise.

Students of the situation say the emphasis of the peasant, resulting in his greater ambition to own what he thinks he needs, his more fastidious tastes, and his determination to enjoy a greater proportion of the benefits of life, is responsible for conditions.

Living Standard Rises.

Since the revolution, the standard of living of the 145,000,000 people inhabiting Russia has risen considerably. Peasants and workers who formerly tasted a bit of boiled meat taken from the soup kettle once a week, now want meat with at least one meal each day. Millions who, under the czarist regime, had not tasted white bread, are no longer content with black bread, and even want butter on it. Farmers want a change of clothes, with Sunday suits of cloth, instead of the rough garments of sheepskin and homespun they formerly wore. All demand boots to replace the twisted rags and bark and other makeshifts they wrapped around their feet and legs in the old days. They want tea a few times a day and coffee whenever they can get it, and furthermore want it sweetened, and occasionally they want milk in their coffee.

The peasants have learned there are other vegetables besides root cabbage and potatoes, and they now are eating the cauliflower, beans, peas, lettuce, and other produce they raise.

Shortage of Manufactures.

The increased demand for all manufactured articles, coming with the sharp decrease in the import of textiles and manufactured goods and the shortage of domestic manufactures, has made it almost impossible for the state factories to offer sufficient supplies.

Further, the transportation system, far from being materially improved since before the war, has depreciated. Lack of rolling stock and the neglect in the upkeep of the lines during the war and the troublous days following the revolution have contributed to the slump.

The same is true of Moscow, swollen from 1,500,000 to 2,250,000 population, without any practical reorganization of the lines of communication feeding the city. Butter, milk, and other perishable goods cannot be brought to the capital in sufficient quantities.

Tea and Rice Scarce.

Sugar is plentiful this year, but tea and rice are scarce. The supply is curtailed because of the revolution in China, with millions of acres laid waste in the war and thousands of men diverted from raising crops to the various armies. There is a dearth of coffee, because the government policy, in holding imports of all luxuries and semi-luxuries to the minimum, so that foreign credits and available resources for buying abroad may be concentrated on purchase of agricultural and mining machinery, railway supplies, and similar necessities.

There is a lack of many commonplace articles—razor blades, toothbrushes, sanitary rubber goods, cosmetics, perfumes, fountain pens, good soap.

Curiously, however, there are plenty of confectioners, with all sorts of candies, and the bakeries display tempting trays of elaborate cakes and tarts of every conceivable kind, beside dozens of kinds of bread and buns and muffins.

JOSEPH W. WEAR TO HEAD DAVIS CUP COMMITTEE

Philadelphian Will Succeed Myrick.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—Joseph W. Wear, president of the Philadelphia Interclub Lawn Tennis association, today accepted the chairmanship of the Davis cup committee. He succeeds Julian S. Myrick, who held the post during the seven years' successful reign of American leadership in international tennis competition.

Mr. Wear was appointed by Samuel H. Colman, newly elected president of the United States Lawn Tennis association. In selecting a Philadelphian for the post Mr. Colman took into consideration the importance of having his principal adviser near him. Since all tennis activities must radiate from Philadelphia during Colman's incumbency as president, the saving of time in the execution of important duties would not be overlooked.

Wear has long record.

Wear, who is a nationally known sportsman, has distinguished himself in basketball, racquets, court tennis, and lawn tennis. In court tennis and racquets he has carried off ten national United States doubles titles. Wear first won national distinction as Yale's outstanding player in 1896, 1897, 1898, and 1899.

It was after his graduation that he gave serious thought to racquets and court tennis, organizing a club in St. Louis, where he was born and where he remained until 1914.

In his tennis career his name is linked with that of Dwight F. Davis, secretary of war, pairing with him to lead the United States doubles tennis championship. He later won the same title with George H. Jinks of Philadelphia and Jay Gould of New York.

His prominent positions.

Wear and Gould won world wide recognition by capturing the United States tennis crown six times. He later won the championship tournament at Longwood Mr. Wear and his son, William Wear, to annex the crown.

Prior to making his home in Philadelphia he landed the Missouri tennis championship three times and to doubles on four occasions.

Wear is chairman of the racquets and tennis committee of the Philadelphia Racquet club and a member of board of governors. He is also on the board of the Philadelphia Cricket club and the Yale Club of Philadelphia, in addition to being Philadelphia's representative on the Yale alumni advisory board.

Mr. Wear is known in financial circles as vice president of W. A. Harman & Co., Inc.

RED ESTERBROOK BEATS ROZGALL IN TEN ROUNDS

Redy Esterbrook of Cleveland, O., won the ten round decision over Mike Rozgall of Omaha, Neb., in the windup of the boxing show conducted by the Ashland Auditorium last night. Esterbrook's cleverness proved his superiority in the small crowd, which carried the fight to his opponent in practically every round. Rozgall was the best of the fighting at long and short range. Rozgall was substituted for Howard Bentz of Milwaukee, who had to cancel the engagement because of an injury.

Redy Esterbrook of the west side and Billy Beardsley of Milwaukee, who fought in the fifth round of the semi-final, a right cross to the jaw felled the fight after 257 of fighting.

In the other fights Joey Thomas won the round decision from Ted Henry, Harry Berrie stopped Matt Schultz in the first round, Harry Dubinsky won out over Coby Dolan in the third round, and Frankie Le Marre and Redy Esterbrook went six rounds to a draw.

AMERICAN SPEED SKATERS LEAVE OLYMPIC GAMES

Fail to Wait for Ruling on Jaffee Protest.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
T. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 16.—On the theory that a three ring circus becomes a mere sideshow when two rings are deserted, Manager Oscar Hansen chucked his Yankee speed skaters on the Paris board train this morning.

Gustavus Kirby, the American Olympic champion, was left behind to argue with the Olympic officials that American skaters ought not to follow the traditions of horse swapping and that Irving Jaffee should be given the Olympic championship for the 10,000 meter race in the interests of honesty, fair dealing, and the brotherhood of nations.

Officials Want Race Run.

It is no secret that the Olympic rulers do not feel this way about it and tonight they still are contending that the race must be run over, though who is to skate is not exactly understood, since the championship Finlander has reached familiar fjords by this time and the Americans will be sliding down the Montmartre hills by the time the rink here freezes again.

The American team suddenly departed this morning when it became apparent that the Olympic committee was not likely to do anything about Mr. Kirby's second protest.

"It would be a farce without the Finns and Norwegians anyway," Manager Hansen concluded this morning, and told O'Neil Farrell, Eddie Murphy, Valentine Bias and Jaffee to pack up and hurry along.

Mr. Kirby told THE TRIBUNE correspondent tonight he would appeal to the International Skating union to recognize Jaffee as the champion, unless the protest filed last night is accepted.

Hockey Financial Flop.

The hockey games were continued today by the ingenious idea of the committee, which was to have the players take to the ice immediately after the town night watchman went off his beat, which was several hours before sunrise this morning.

Three games were played in this manner before the referee called for a paddle to negotiate the rink, and the hockey finals will be played tomorrow. This is particularly hard on the Olympic fans, because this morning no one showed up except the retiring watchman and a handful of rinkmen, who refused to pay the admission price. The Canadian hockey team makes its first appearance tomorrow, playing Sweden. Rolf Mosen, and Charles Proctor of the Yank skating team also will perform tomorrow in the 18 kilometer ski race. America's figure skaters competed this afternoon on a wet rink and will finish tomorrow before sunrise.

Arrest Woman Bookie in N. Y.; She Gets 40 Days

New York, Feb. 16.—(Special.)—One by one, the professions, occupations and pursuits formerly sacred to men are being invaded by the feminine sex. There is much left, anyway, but it was demonstrated today that the ladies have now penetrated to about the last, retreating activity of the subdued and intimate male. Rosie Green was pinched for bookmaking—taking bets on horse races.

James Carberry, a roving police detective, maintained that, with his own eyes, he saw Rosie taking slips and money from assorted males, and that the money was written upon the slips. He averred also (and this is interesting because there are claims about it) that Rosie was taking the cash into her stocking.

They gave her 40 days in the workhouse.

Shocker Quits Diamond to Go Into Business

Major League Baseball and Urban Shocker Have Come to the Parting of the Ways.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 16.—[U. P.]—Major league baseball and Urban Shocker have come to the parting of the ways. The Yankee star, who won eighteen games and lost six for the champions in 1927, announced today that he had retired permanently from baseball.

He broke the news of his retirement in a telegram to Business Manager Ed Barrow of the Yanks, as follows:

"Received letter. Due consideration of present state of affairs urges me to voluntarily retire from major league baseball for the furtherance of my business interests at home."

Shocker explained that he was not a holdout and that there had been no friction between him and Yankee officials.

"The end of my career will come eventually, so why not resign while I can leave a good record behind me. I feel that my work with the Yankees during the last two seasons is the best selling record I have."

Auto Hits Rut; Capt. Campbell Escapes Death

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—Hurling along at an unofficial speed of 175 miles an hour despite a rain beaten beach, Capt. Malcolm Campbell, British automobile racer, escaped possible serious injury here when his speedster struck a rut and was catapulted 30 feet through the air.

So great was the impact when the twelve cylinder Juggernaut settled back on the beach that it smashed a bracket on the rear shock absorber and ripped away the undercarriage.

Capt. Campbell was half thrown from the driver's seat, but maintained control of the machine and completed a trial run down the beach at reduced speed.

The British pilot was putting his racer through its first test here preliminary to an attempt to break the world's speed record of 203.7 miles per hour, made by a fellow countryman, Maj. H. O. D. Segrave, here last year. He said the necessary repairs could be made within a few hours and that he probably would give his speedster another workout tomorrow.

Frank Lockhart, internationally known driver, also expects to give his sixteen cylinder Stutz "Blackhawk" special a run tomorrow in preparation for a try at the record.

J. M. White, Philadelphia manufacturer, continued today to condition his Triplex special for a similar test, although as at present constructed his mount will not be sanctioned by the American Automobile association because it is not equipped with clutch and reverse gear. The Philadelphia, however, has said that if his machine reached expectations in trials he would install the necessary transmission system.

Meanwhile, the stock car events on the program today of the twenty-fifth annual speedway carnival which will be climaxed by the assaults on the speed record, were postponed because of rain.

Penn Protests as It Loses to Dartmouth Five, 30-29

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—Dartmouth jumped into the lead in the intercollegiate basketball league race tonight by defeating Pennsylvania, 29 to 23. The game was protested by Pennsylvania on the ground that the student scorers of both teams had lost track of a foul goal by Joe Schacht soon after the start of the contest.

LOWLY THISTLE WEED IS BOON TO BLOWGUN FANS

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Bryson City, N. C., Feb. 16.—At last we have found what a thistle is good for. This noxious weed usually found on the blacklist of weed pests, is used by the Cherokee Indians of the Great Smokies to "feather" their blowgun darts or arrows.

We learned this yesterday when in company with Kelley Bennett of Bryson City, we spent the day on the Indian reservation getting acquainted with Tahquette, the chief, and visiting with the superintendent of the reservation, J. E. Henderson.

Tries to Buy Blowgun.

While on the reservation we tried to buy a blowgun from the wife of an old time Cherokee who owns one of these primitive weapons. This gun, about 10 feet in length, was not made in recent times. We had a tip that it was of "ancient vintage," made years ago when the Cherokees manufactured blowguns of the highest type and most efficient shooting qualities.

This gun, which we shot, looked the part. It had aged to a dark rich brown. The bore was as smooth as glass and we had a lot of fun blowing a 20 inch arrow through it. The speed with which this arrow or dart whizzed on its way and the distance which we made with it were amazing.

Wraps Thistle to Arrow.

Then the silky "feathering" material at the base of the arrow caught our eye. It was a piece of Indian woman what this material was. She walked away a few steps to a thistle standing in her unkempt, weed-grown yard. She picked up a thistle and showed us how the feathering on the blowgun arrows was arranged.

The silky stuffy top of a thistle plant [after it has gone to seed] is worked through the fingers of one hand around the 1/4 arrow, while with the other hand the Indian wraps it to the shaft of the arrow with small, but stout thread. Where the Cherokees secured this thread in the old days we have yet to learn. But whatever the material was or is, it must be strong and durable as these darts shot through the blowguns get hard usage.

Fields Arrives Tomorrow for Mandell Bout

Jackie Fields, a fighter by trade, takes up tennis as recreation. He will arrive in Chicago tomorrow to finish training for his bout with Sammy Mandell at the Coliseum Thursday night.

The decisive victory of Fields over Vince Dundee in Los Angeles last Tuesday night stamps the Californian as a strong contender for the welterweight title held by Joe Dundee. Many are betting that Fields will win the title in his first fight.

Fields won a newspaper decision over Mandell on the coast and he has beaten some of the best fighters in California, including Mushy Callahan, the world's junior welterweight champion. He is a stiff right hand puncher and a clever boxer. Some of the fighters who have seen Fields in action predict he will outbox the 135 pound champion.

Mandell has been installed a 7 to 1 favorite, but there is plenty of money being wagered on Fields at these odds.

Sammy increased his work yesterday by boxing three rounds with Al Ios of Rockford, Ill., and as many with Roger O'Brien, Chicago light weight. He went on the road in the morning and skipped the rope and punched the bag before he pulled on the gloves with his mates.

Cagers Pump Handcar 14 Miles to Game; Lose, 58-8

Greenfield, Ill., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—The independent basketball team of Carleton, Ill., pumped its way fourteen miles on a Chicago and Alton railroad handcar to keep a scheduled appointment tonight and took a 58 to 8 beating at the hands of a local town team. Impassable roads, and mud knee deep, proved no bar to the cagers, and they commiserated the railroad car, tired when they arrived, but ready to play.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Avalon, Catalina Island, Cal., Feb. 16.—Spring training for the eighteen Cub early birds got under way today, attended by a little more enthusiasm than Boss McCarthy cared to witness. Steamers up by a bright sun that was particularly soothing to those just escaped from the rigors of winter back east, the athletes went to their work with an indulgence that caused the manager continually to warn them that many good pitching arms have been left hopelessly wrecked in training camps.

Altogether the party gave about three hours to the customary opening day training ceremonies. One hour of this was devoted to picture making that started with snaps and movies of setting up exercises on the beach and wound up with scenes of real baseball action on the emerald green training field.

Joe Chas. Hartnett.

Then when the photographers had finished their stuff, a couple dozen new baseballs were passed out and the men who will have to carry the pitching burden for Chicago's north side in the coming race began the tedious and painful process of putting their winter softened throwing muscles into proper trim.

After a rather strenuous throwing session in which McCarthy warned persistently against anybody fooling around with curve balls and bearing down on the fast ones, the pitching portion of the squad was ordered to do a bit of fungo chasing in the expansive outfield where a man must call for a saddle horse before setting out to retrieve a ball that has gone past him.

Most of the men wanted to get in a few whacks with their bats but McCarthy politely told them to wait. Once Gabby Hartnett grabbed a bat and ran up to the plate to let Joe Bush throw him a couple but before Bush could get McCarthy told Hartnett to get out of there and Gabby did.

The squad was enlarged this morning by the appearance of two youths who seemed to have more of the spirit of a baseball player than the rest of the bunch. They are Jack Calvey and Dan Hall, two high school infielders from Lane and Austin, Chicago.

Boys Get Tryout.

Hoping to make headway in professional baseball they took together a bank roll of limited proportions and set out from Chicago on a transcontinental tour. By sleeping in the bus five nights they reduced their travel expenses to the minimum. When they turned up here and informed McCarthy that they figured he was the right man to study them and to choose their careers he promptly told them to get out uniforms and show what they could do. If McCarthy judges them worthy of attention he will endeavor to place them in minor league jobs. Hall is 19 years and Calvey 18.

Joe Bush went to the hospital this morning to get some expert advice on his right ear, which had been bothering him for a couple days. The audiologist appendage was bailed with oil and Joe felt better. The appendage was caused by the high altitude through which he passed on the journey out here from the east.

WILSON TO TALK TERMS WITH CUBS; 'NOT A HOLDOUT'

Martinsburg, W. Va., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—Although he has not signed a contract for 1928, Hack Wilson, heavy hitting outfielder of the Chicago Cubs, today was making preparations to leave his home here on Saturday to join the remainder of the McCarthy regulars and embark with them on Tuesday for Catalina Island.

Wilson does not consider himself in the hold out class. He said he had asked for more money than the amount stipulated in his contract, and believed he would reach an agreement after a conference with Chicago officials.

Wilson has spent the winter at his Martinsburg home and has kept himself in condition with hunting expeditions and indoor training. He is almost down to normal weight and anticipates a better season than either of the two he has had with the Cubs.

Business Completed, Gene Goes South to Resume Rest

New York, Feb. 16.—(Special.)—Gene Gorman, heavyweight champion, who came north from Miami Beach two weeks ago to attend to business matters, will return to the Florida resort tomorrow night. The champion said he expected to come back north about April 1, when he will go to Speculator, N. Y. The intervening time in the south will be spent in training to keep in condition for his impending bouts during the summer.

PITTSBURGH AND OTTAWA TIE IN HOCKEY BATTLE

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—The Pittsburgh Pirates and Ottawa Senators battled 70 minutes on the ice tonight to a scoreless tie before a crowd of 5,000. The contest was marked by the reckless combination play of the Corsairs with their two and three man thrusts forward. It was the fifth consecutive game in which Alex Connell, the Ottawa cage tender, was not scored on.

CHICAGOAN LOSES AS Vogler Takes Cue Lead

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—Lewis Vogler of Indianapolis gained possession of first place in the western amateur three cushion billiard tournament tonight by defeating Ellis Johnson of Chicago, 10 to 4, in 13 innings. Dr. R. Harris, the defending champion, broke even in two matches today. He suffered a crushing defeat at the hands of R. S. Goodman of Detroit, 10-15, in 18 innings, and then came back tonight to defeat Bud Westhus of St. Louis, 10-23.

POUND OF FLESH MAY DEFEAT ACE IN BAKER FIGHT

New York, Feb. 16.—(Special.)—A pound of flesh is going to make a lot of difference in the Ace Hudkins-Sammy Baker ten round welterweight fight at the Garden tomorrow night.

The boys are to weigh 147 pounds at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the state athletic commission office. The winner is to box Joe Dundee for the title March 23 if Joe moves into the state of eligibility by that time—and he probably will.

There is little doubt about Baker's weight. Sammy was caught at 146 1/2 and he could eat ice cream tomorrow and be happy. But Ace was clocked at 149 1/2. All is not well. Brother Manager Art was wearing a worried look all day. Ace can make the weight all right by the devices of rubbing and drying out. However, there is a serious question as to whether Ace will be strong and vigorous after such proceedings.

Tony Sanders Battles to a Draw at Lafayette

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—Vincent Hambricht of Cincinnati and Tony Sanders of Chicago, both weighing 135 pounds, fought to a draw in ten rounds here tonight.

Jackie Fields, a fighter by trade, takes up tennis as recreation. He will arrive in Chicago tomorrow to finish training for his bout with Sammy Mandell at the Coliseum Thursday night.

Lambert, Stroke of Columbia Crew, Is Located Here

Eric Lambert, stroke on the Columbia university crew, yesterday was located at the home of Dr. E. M. Holmes, 901 North East avenue, in Oak Park. Lambert said that he was recovering from an illness and that he would leave Sunday for the east to reenter school and crew competition.

From New York yesterday it was reported that Lambert would not return to Columbia this season. The story was denied by Columbia officials, but a statement of the students declared that Lambert was through.

"In our work as international dancers we have discovered a wonderful new point about Lucky Strikes of which we are very happy to tell you. As can readily be realized, wind and physical condition are of the utmost importance to ball room dancers. Our work is hard and taxes the wind to the utmost. We both have smoked Lucky Strikes for a number of years and can safely say that these cigarettes in addition to furnishing us much pleasure in our hours of relaxation, have never affected our wind or physical fitness in any way."

GROWTH OF NEW IDEA IN CREDIT SEEN BY LEECH

BY HARPER LEECH.

Commenting on the discussion in this column of proposals to meddle with the lending power of banks by congressional action, a correspondent says: "Relative to the volume of bank loans on securities, it seems to me that the total of such loans is bloated by installment purchases of bonds by individuals throughout the nation. If you will scan the recent bank statements you will find that even small banks are carrying as much as a quarter of a million dollars of such debt. It is quite possible that the balances carried against such bond purchases reach a billion dollars."

Probably so. Long before the recent discussions of the volume of bank loans in fact for several years past, banking circles have been talking of the increasing proportion of loans not eligible to Federal Reserve redemption. Of course, the nature of banking has been affected, and was bound to be affected, by the great business depression. The distribution of corporate ownership and in the manner of doing corporate business, which followed the Liberty loans.

Our federal reserve system is probably as up to date as any central bank system abroad, but it was launched at a time when banking was different from what it now is—when commercial credit was necessarily a greater part of all credit than now.

At the time the federal reserve system was...

The interest is to be paid in cash or in kind, at the option of the corporation, but not exceeding $100,000 per annum.

Debentures are to be convertible into cumulative 6 1/2% First Preferred Stock (par value $100 a share) of the corporation, at the rate of 10 shares for each $1,000 debenture.

The indenture is to provide for a purchase fund of $750,000 per annum, equal installments to be reserved semi-annually beginning September 1, 1928, to be used in the purchase of debentures, if obtainable at or below 100% and interest, unexpended balances at the end of each six months' period to be available for general corporate purposes.

The following information has been summarized by Mr. Henry Illison, President of Commercial Investment Trust Corporation, from his letter dated February 16, 1928, copies of which may be obtained upon request, and is subject to the more complete information contained therein:

BUSINESS

Commercial Investment Trust Corporation and subsidiaries constitute one of the largest and most successful organizations engaged in a special field of banking devoted to the extension of credit to facilitate sales on an installment payment basis. The business, conducted through the medium of subsidiary operating companies, consists principally of financing manufacturers and wholesale and retail merchants by means of purchasing secured notes, and also accounts created in the distribution and sale of a large variety of nationally marketed products, such as automobiles, machinery, hotel and office equipment, electrical appliances, musical instruments and furniture. Receivables paid on December 31, 1927 aggregated more than $76,000,000, representing a large number of separate obligations and having an average maturity of about five months. Such obligations were incurred by individuals located throughout the country and engaged in practically every branch of industry, thus affording the widest diversity of risk.

The business was started in 1908 by the present management with a paid-in capital of $100,000, which has grown, through reinvestment of earnings and investment of additional capital, to approximately $27,318,000, represented by capital stock of $21,190,000 and surplus of $6,128,000, as shown by the consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 1927. Total obligations acquired during 1927 amounted to $188,712,663.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

In anticipation of an expected increase in volume of business, long-term funds are now being obtained through sale of the debentures, the proceeds of which are to be employed in the development of the business, the immediate use, however, to be in the reduction of bank loans of subsidiary companies.

EARNINGS

In a manner similar to that in which commercial banks fix rates on money loaned, the subsidiaries of Commercial Investment Trust Corporation have regulated rates for their services so as to yield a satisfactory banking profit after paying interest charges and expenses of operation. Since inception of the business in 1908, substantial net earnings have been shown in every year. During the five years ended December 31, 1927, there were carried to surplus, net earnings aggregating $13,617,548 of which $1,250,000 were capitalized through payment of a stock dividend and $8,080,317 were distributed as cash dividends, leaving a net increase in earned surplus for the period of $4,287,231.

Consolidated net earnings before interest and United States Federal income taxes, consolidated interest (including dividends on preferred stock) of subsidiaries adjusted as shown below, and consolidated net earnings after such interest (and preferred dividends), for the last five years, all as certified by Messrs. Touche, Niven & Co., have been as follows:

Year	Net earnings before interest and U. S. Federal income taxes	Interest (including dividends on preferred stock) of subsidiaries adjusted to give effect, in each year, to reduction of bank loans with proceeds of the debentures	Balance—net earnings, before interest and U. S. Federal income taxes
1923	$3,424,402	$ 453,616	$2,970,786
1924	3,805,152	373,488	4,316,644
1925	5,225,855	669,272	5,558,583
1926	7,173,404	1,974,629	5,198,775
1927	6,393,953	1,844,707	5,549,246

NOTE: Interest charges of the English and German subsidiaries have not been included in the above (inasmuch as, in accordance with the corporation's practice, the earnings of such subsidiaries have been taken up net, after deduction of all charges including interest).

Combined maximum annual interest requirements on these debentures and on $6,000,000 5% Serial Gold Notes now outstanding amount to $1,200,000. Commercial Investment Trust Corporation has no bank loans, all bank borrowing having been by subsidiary companies.

CAPITALIZATION

Capitalization of Commercial Investment Trust Corporation outstanding on December 31, 1927, but including the debentures, follows:

GEN. MOTORS AND PENNSY RAILROAD RECORD YEARS

BY O. A. MATHER.

In spite of last year's moderate decline in general trade, two of the country's largest corporations, the General Motors corporation and the Pennsylvania railroad, had the most prosperous year in their histories.

General Motors set a new high record for sales with 1,554,577 cars, an increase of 23,761 cars, or 2.9 per cent, over the 1,530,816 cars sold in 1937.

Sales totaled $1,363,519,673, an average price per car received last year of $881.66, compared with $770 in 1936.
Net earnings last year were $235,014,816, dividends to $122.99 a share on the common stock. Net earnings for 1936 were $194,648,426, equivalent to $100.00 a share on the present outstanding common stock.

Two Substantial Show Losses.

The large earnings last year were made in spite of losses totaling $7,070,176 by two General Motors subsidiaries, the Yellow Truck and Coach manufacturing company and Yellow Truck and Coach
Engineering. Nevertheless, profits were $1,363,519,673, an increase of $115,361, or 0.8 per cent, over the 1936 figure.

Dividends declared on the common stock last year were $122.99 a share, compared with $100.00 a share in 1936.
The strong position of the corporation is shown by the fact that it ended the year with $206,198 in cash, government and marketable securities, compared with $135,395,336 at the end of 1936.

At the end of 1937 the corporation

ment and marketable securities, compared

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, Feb. 16.—(Special.)—The stock market continued its moderate decline today. It was largely professional and the pool factors furnished the only excitement. The price movements during most of the session were irregular, with here and there a few stocks advancing spiritedly while others that have been highly exploited recently fell back.

Many of the most aggressive operators have temporarily withdrawn, it was said, and this seemed to account for the comparatively small volume of business and the general apathy. Public utility shares opened stronger, apparently reflecting the favorable outcome in the senate of the investigation of the utility industry by transferring the question to the federal trade commission. They did not hold their gains.

General Motors Firm.
General Motors stock fairly well held, firm under considerable selling and at one time declining to 17 1/2. It closed at 18 1/2, or 1/2 point. Hudson Motors closed the day with a net gain of 1/4 of a point. Hupp fell back 1/2 point, but Chrysler managed to gain fractionally. Buick advanced 1/4 point, closing at 4 1/2, or 1/2 point.

Bethlehem was the most active of the steel group, but lost its gain before the close and finished with a net loss of 1/4 of a point. Vanadium had a brisk run up of 1/2 point. United States Steel closed along in a narrow range and didn't get anywhere.

Prophet Texas took a moderate, shedding 1/4 point more of its recent appreciation. City Stores, B. American Smelting, Case Threshing, Liggett & Myers B, Producers and Refiners and United States Steel from Pipe also recorded sharply and vigorous selling. Adams Express got 7 1/2 of a point of its recent gain, Montgomery Ward lost 1/4 point at the close, American Tobacco had a net loss of 1/4 of a point and Liggett & Myers B was down 1/4 point.

National Service Up Ten.
On the plus side was National Service, which closed 6 points below its top with a net gain of 10 points; Reading, which had a net gain of 1/4 point, after losing one point of its advance, and General Cable, which ended with a gain of 4 points.

The rails were relatively inactive until just before the close. Reading was in demand, advancing along with Philadelphia and Reading Coal, although there seemed no logical connection between the movements. Reading closed at 100, up 1/2 point. Illinois Central, at 100, up 1/2 point. Chicago & North Western, at 100, up 1/2 point. Louisville and Nashville was up fractionally. Canadian Pacific and Alton were lower.

U.S. GOVERNMENT
ISSUES LEAD RISE
IN BOND MARKET

New York, Feb. 16.—(Special.)—Heavy accumulation of U. S. treasury issues, nearly $100,000,000 of which changed hands at rising prices, featured the bond market today. The treasury was transmitted to the public, and was followed by heavy trading in government obligations in the open market. Advances ranged from 1/2 to 1/4 point.

Experts on government issues attributed the rise to a changed policy in the sale of securities. The demand for this class of investment has been growing steadily since the treasury began its periodic retirement of outstanding bonds, thus gradually reducing the amount of long term securities available for purchase.

Other listed issues were steady, with further selling of some of the semi-governmental and convertible issues. J. Edgar Hoover 5 1/2, lost more than a point on heavy sales, and the conversions were scored against Cuba Cane Sugar Co., Liquid Carbons Inc. and a few others.

Profit taking dominated the St. Paul group, but some of the Standard group, which have been weak in recent months, moved upward. Chesapeake Corporation and Erie Consolidated were in supply.

TOPICS OF FINANCE
TRADE AND INDUSTRY

The automobile parts industry is active. National Gauge and Equipment, subsidiary of Motometer company, is operating its La Crosse, Wis., plant night and day. January was its best month, with sales of 198,182. Motometer company also is increasing production of ball bearings and distance-type instruments. Campbell, Wyatt and Cannon foundry, makers of cast cylinder blocks, is booked to capacity for February.

Increased requirements of Carnegie Steel plants for hot metal are reflected in the starting of another blast furnace at Newcastle, Pa. Further increases in active iron capacity in the Youngstown area are expected over the next 30 days for second quarter business. Independent areas are quoting 2.50 cents for black sheets, 2.10 cents for big annealed, 1.75 cents for galvanized, and 4.15 cents for full finished.

Stockholders of Fidelity-Phenix Fire Insurance company will vote April 23 on a change in capital stock from 1,000,000 shares, $10 par, to 400,000 shares, $25 par, the new stock to be exchanged $3 shares for one.

Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., reports an increase of more than 24 per cent in January earnings over the same month last year. The month's production film exceeded 35,000 feet, a gain of 10,000 feet over a year ago.

PROFIT TAKING
AGAIN RETARDS
CURE ADVANCES

New York, Feb. 15.—(Special.)—Profit taking today interrupted the early upward trend of prices on the stock market and the list closed weaker, with the exception of the few shares which either advanced or were given such support as to lift them to higher ground.

The strength of pipe lines, particularly Prairie, on reports of improved earnings, a possible stock split and a merger, and the apparent return to favor of the sagging utilities were features of the day. Prairie Pipe Line moved up 1/2 point to a new high, at 21 1/2, and Gulf showed small gains, but the Standard Oil, International Petroleum and March were neglected and went to 10.

Rapidly climbed another 1/2 point on continued reports of pending mergers or extension of business by the Aluminum Company of America, B. American Smelting, Case Threshing, Liggett & Myers B, Producers and Refiners and United States Steel from Pipe also recorded sharply and vigorous selling. Adams Express got 7 1/2 of a point of its recent gain, Montgomery Ward lost 1/4 point at the close, American Tobacco had a net loss of 1/4 of a point and Liggett & Myers B was down 1/4 point.

BROKERS' LOANS
DROP AS BANKS
CURTAIL CREDIT

The banks of the country curtailed their stock market loans in the last week, although other lenders increased their accommodations. The weekly report on brokers' loans by the New York Federal Reserve bank, issued last night, showed a decline of $15,635,000 from a week ago. Such loans now stood at $219,325,000, which is still $1,190,781,000 over a year ago.

The New York banks reduced loans for their own account by $1,644,000 and loans for out of town banks reduced $25,430,000, but loans for other accounts increased $34,445,000.

A larger demand for credit is shown in the weekly report of the whole federal reserve system. In the last week loans have expanded $25,996,000, but open market bills purchased declined $14,465,000. Government securities increased $7,994,000. Reserves declined $4,564,000, and the ratio of reserves to liabilities now stood at 14 per cent, compared with 7.1 per cent a week ago.

At New York, loans expanded $23,944,000 but open market bills remained about stationary. Reserves declined $3,662,000, and the reserve ratio fell to 7.8 per cent. At Chicago, loans and bills declined $2,131,000 and $7,854,000, respectively. Reserves increased $1,564,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 7.5 per cent last week.

Nickel Plate Directors
Authorize Stock Issues

Cleveland, O., Feb. 14.—(Special.)—The board of directors of the Nickel Plate railroad for the session authorized the issuance of 25,735 shares of cumulative 6 per cent preferred stock, series A, to be offered at $10 to common stockholders of record on the same date. Both issues would be offered to stockholders at the ratio of one share for each nine shares of common held.

SHORTS IN WHEAT
SENT TO COVER BY RUSSIAN BUYING

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.
Reports that Russia had been an immense buyer of cash wheat in North America the last few days, with one estimate placing the quantity as high as $5,000,000, resulted in a stampede on the part of shorts to cover and also brought in heavy commission houses and outside buying yesterday.

Prices slipped up 1/4 of a point on the finish of Wednesday to the best figures since Dec. 13 on the May and to a new high on the crop for the July. The finish was at net gains of 3/4 of a point, with March at $1.13 1/2; May, $1.13, and July, $1.10 1/2.

Corn advanced 1/4 of a point to a new high on the present movement, but reacted on closed spreads with wheat. The profit taking and closed about the bottom, with net gains of 1/4 of a point. March was $1.09 1/2; May, $1.09, and July, $1.06 1/2.

Larger Trade in Wheat.
Houses with eastern connections were free buyers of wheat futures, and there was a marked increase in the general speculative market. Part of the strength came from closing of spreads with wheat, the wheat being bought, but the change in the character of the news from abroad with unfavorable crop comments from the continent, and a better export demand more than offset reports of further discounts in the American southwest.

March was neglected and went to 10. The strength of pipe lines, particularly Prairie, on reports of improved earnings, a possible stock split and a merger, and the apparent return to favor of the sagging utilities were features of the day.
